OPA SINKS IN DEATH COMA

Army Opens Training of Former Military Airmen

COMBAT TYPE PLANES AMONG FIRST TO LAND

Mansfield's AAF Squadron Sponsors Program for Ex-Service Fliers.

Five army planes roared in over Mansfield today signaling the opening of a program designed to keep the city's ex-military airmen in flying trim.

The program is sponsored by the Mansfield squadron of the Army Air Forces association. It is open to all former army air crewmen.

The planes, two-seated, advanced army trainers, are the first of several types to be brought to the airport for the program.

The first to arrive were AT-6's, a type which was used to some extent in combat during the war.

Bigger Ones Coming.

Later, other larger planes will be brought in to enable not only pilots, but other ex-crewmen, to keep in flying fettle.

The ships will be based at Cleveland but will fly to Mansfield on a once-a-week shuttling basis. A "class" of 16 former army pilots took the air today and tomorrow for the first training flights.

In the lead plane this morning as the squadron circled the city was Mayor Roy W. Vaughn who helped, officially, to herald this "keep-the-fliers-fit" program.

Said C. K. Kunkle, president of the Mansfield A. A. F. association, "the main purpose of the program is to keep pilots and crewmen proficient in flying all types of aircraft."

Backed by 11th AAF

Kunkle said that the association will schedule the flights at the port in connection with the program and will arrange for "64 physicials" to be given to men who have applied for participation but have not yet been examined.

Kunkle may be reached at the Tappan Stove company and Joseph Lesch, another association officers, may be contacted at the Yuncker Brothers store by ex-airmen who wish to take part in the flying program.

The program is backed by the Eleventh Air Force, which is providing the planes and instructors.

Kunkle said that the air force has authorized the flight program for Mansfield because it is "enthusiastic over the city's port facilities."

Robert McClurg, a former B-29 pilot, has been named temporary operations officer for the program and will schedule the program's flights, Kunkle said.

Warmer Weather Forecast Sunday

The sun will continue to pout through Sunday, according to the weatherman. Predictions are partly cloudy and rather cool today; cloudy and slightly cooler tonight, with increasing cloudiness but a little warmer Sunday.

Occasional rain is forecast in the west portion of the state.

Home Wrecker Popular!

In these days of housing shortages, with about a quarter of the city population looking for homes the professional house wrecker could be the community's most unpopular man—but he isn't. Just why he hasn't been publicly hung in effigy will be told in tomorrow's N-J.

At the same time, William R. Allen, dictator of the Veterans Information Center, cites the experiences of two Mansfield veterans to point up the necessity for purchasers of new homes to move cautiously in the purchase of newly-built homes.

Sunday's edition also will take readers for a trip through rural areas with the Public Library's Book-mobile, which hauls books to Richland county schools and towns. You won't want to miss the interesting story of Ontario community.

Cellmate Beaten By Motorist

A 26-year-old Lily street motorist who broke just about every rule in the books was given a jail sentence and fine on two counts today and still faces sentence on two others.

In rapid succession, Thomas J. Clements, 567 Lily street, ensnarled himself with the law and completed the night by beating up a city jail cellmate.

He was involved in two accidents, fought with police officers and then sent Lewis McClain, of Shelby, to the hospital with severe head and lip cuts.

* * *

ACCUSED OF SEEKING TO AVOID ARREST

Officers said that Clements' trouble began when he tried to avoid arrest by leaving the scene of an accident on Park avenue west last night involving his car and one driven by Walter M. Hammermiller, of Mansfield R. D. 2.

But Clements' flight solved nothing. As he was attempting to get away, he drove through a one-way street in the wrong direction and collided with a taxi being driven by Walter A. Wright, of 50 South Adams street.

That's when the police were called out. But Clements still didn't give up. Officers said he put up such a battle that they had to put hand-cuffs on him in order to get him into the police cruiser and up to city jail.

* * *

Charges Filed.

There he was charged with failing to stop after an accident, driving while intoxicated and disorderly conduct. But that wasn't enough for Clements. When he was placed in a cell to await hearing this morning he attacked McClain. Result: eight stitches were put in McClain's head and four in his lip.

McClain then filed the fourth charge against Clements, that of assault and battery, and Clements' activities for one night came to an end.

This morning in municipal court Clements was fined $10 and costs on the disorderly conduct charge and sentenced to 30 days in the county jail on the assault and battery charges.

Bonds of $500 each were set on the two other charges, "hit skip" and drunken driving, and hearing continued until Tuesday.

Game's Tough On Old Man's Nightclothes

WASHINGTON—(AP)—A sartorial battle of the sexes turned a Washington high school campus into a parade ground of scarecrows today—and played hob with father's dwindling supply of nightshirts.

The ruckus, which brought down the wrath of school authorities, began when a fraternity group vowed to observe a "hate women week."

They wouldn't shave. They wouldn't date. They wouldn't even talk to girls.

And, if possible, they dressed more sloppily than ever, wearing their shirt tails out and their pants rolled up.

Promptly, the girls retaliated. Setting a new chic, they came to school sporting their male parent's flannel nightshirts in loud and unique colors that gave the old man away cold. Underneath, they wore their regular duds.

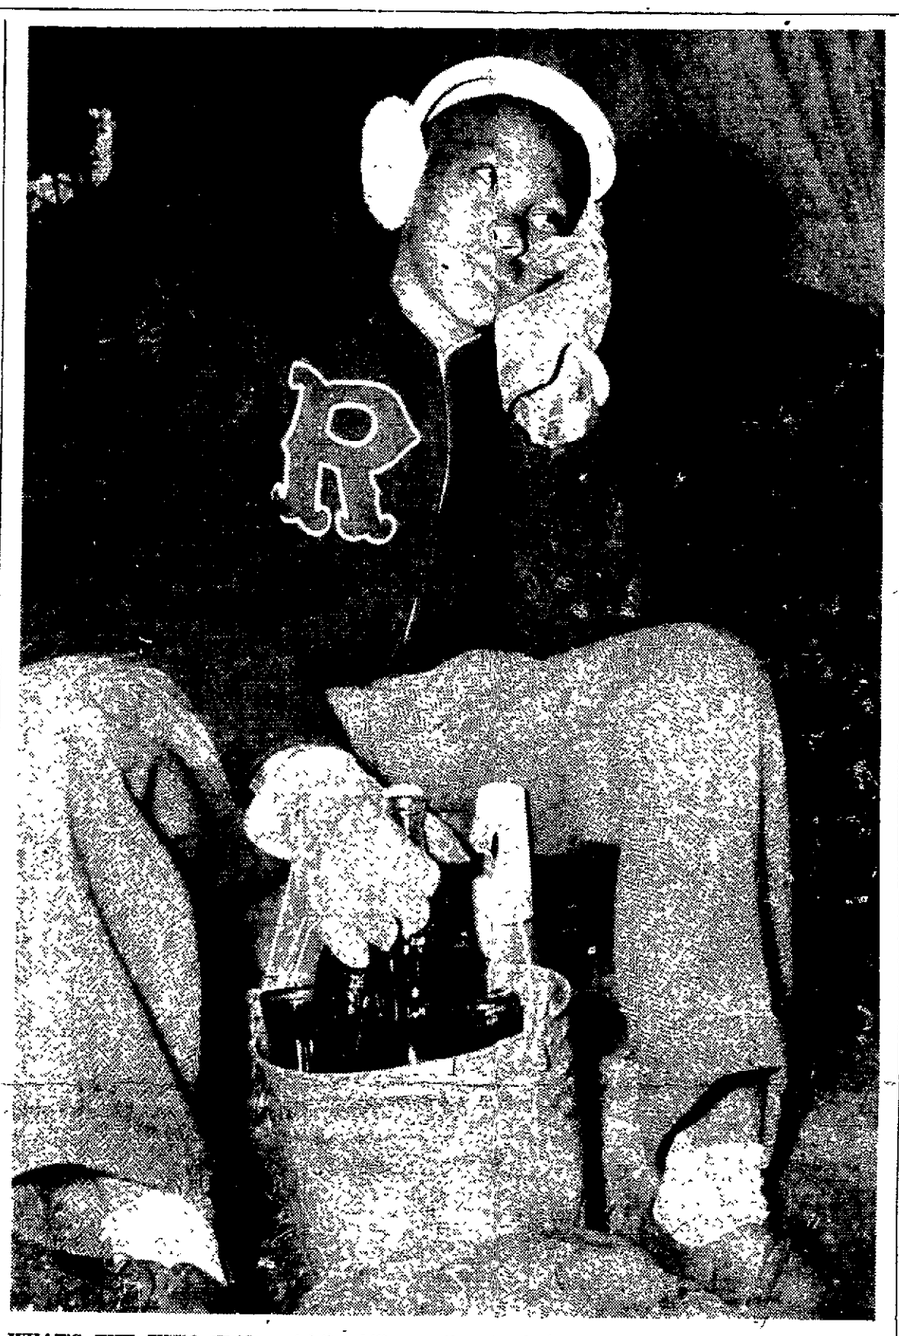
"You look," said Mrs. Opal H. Corkery, the principal, to several of the girls, "like so many unmade beds."

Furthermore, she said, if they didn't take the pajama tops off, she would send the girls to bed in the infirmary.

Next day the boys ganged up with the girls, both sexes showing up at school in nightgowns, nightshirts, pajamas and tail-cut shirts.

USE FUND FOR FISH

COLUMBUS — (AP) — Fishing condition in the Little Miami river between King's Mills and Lockland will be improved by the $18,000 paid by the Electric Autolite company, of Toledo, the Conservation and Natural Resources commission decided yesterday at a meeting. The settlement money and 200,000 minnows furnished by the company will be used to restore fishing in the area where thousands of fish were killed by the firm's industrial wastes.



WHAT'S THE USE?—Friday night's chilly weather nipped in the bud any dreams Kenneth Kenny, 12, junior high school student, may have had of getting "rich quick" by selling soft drinks at the final home football game between Mansfield Tygers and Youngstown Rayen. By the end of the second quarter, Kenneth decided he should have sold coffee and hot dogs and gave up retailing in disgust. Kenneth lives at 305 North Main street.—(News-Journal staff photo by George Petrovich.)

5,000 SHIVER AS TYGERS WIN

By PHILLIP GREENE

Kilroy, as tradition has it, can't be dead.

Some 5,000 chilled fans who watched Mansfield's Tygers defeat, 24 to 19, a surprisingly strong Youngstown Rayen high school football team at Stadium field last night can testify to that fact.

It was through the courtesy of that legendary(?) character, so the sign said, that Holcombe's Raiders, long underwear and all, entertained the crowd with an eight-piece clown band at the half-time intermission.

Added to the homecoming antics of the costumed band was the parade of high-stepping riding horses which carried members of the Richland County Bit and Spur club around the field at the half and the regal ride of Homecoming Queen Betty Long and the attendants in a shiny new convertible before the game.

The game, last of the Tygers' home contests, also gave the talented high school marching band its last chance to perform. The band, directed by J. Morton Holcombe whose name was used in the title of the Raider clan, is celebrating its 25th anniversary this year.

Still another stunt provided to keep the fans' minds off the biting, cold wind that numbed the gridders' hands—but made them shiver in sympathy—was the tumbling of Ex-Tyger Otto Schmidt on a trambolin.

(Yes, that's what they called it—a trambolin. It's a large sheet of canvas hooked by strong springs to a large picture-frame affair and on which a skilled tumbler can do marvelous things. Otto Schmidt did those things while clad only in slick black shorts. Brrrrrrr!)

FIRE KILLS GIRL

IRONTON—(AP)—Burns received from kerosene thrown in a grate caused the death yesterday of Maxine Dunfee, 16. The fire Wednesday destroyed the home of the girl's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Dunfee of nearby Scottown, and burned critically Doris Bowen, 10, a visitor.

Charges Klan Tried To Link With Nazis

By ROMNEY WHEELER

ATLANTA—(AP)—The state of Georgia charged the Ku Klux Klan today with attempting a 1940 merger with the German-American bund, and accused the hooded order of even now of seeking to weld ultra-nationalist veterans' groups and anti-Semitic, anti-Negro factions.

Assistant Attorney General Daniel Duke, designated by Gov. Ellis Arnall to prosecute the Klan, filed the charges in Fulton (Atlanta) superior court as amendment to an earlier suit to revoke the Klan's charter.

The amended petition was introduced coincident with state litigation to revoke the charter of a new anti-Negro, anti-Jewish organization called "Columbians, Inc."

The petition says:

In 1940, certain local Klans on the eastern seaboard made "a definite, planned effort" to combine the Klan and the German-American bund into one racially-supreme "all-Aryan" organization, and undertook joint operations to boycott Jewish, Catholic and Negro-owned business.

"Similar activities were planned and executed by the order (Klan) in collaboration with racially like-minded Fascist and Nazi organizations."

The state alleges that additional relations are now developing between the Klan and Gerald L. K. Smith and his associates.

"The most current example," the petition says, "is perhaps that of the Klan front organization called the Continental League for Christian Freedom, headed by Millard Grubbs of Louisville, Ky. This organization is attempting primarily to recruit veterans along violently anti-Semitic, anti-Catholic and anti-Negro lines.

"Grubbs also is an active organizer for the Klan in Kentucky.

Widespread Search Ends When Missing Coed Reports to Parents She's Safe

EATON—(AP)—Parents of Mary Zimmerman, 19-year-old coed missing from Bowling Green State university, announced today that she was safe in Ft. Wayne, Ind.

Charles T. Zimmerman, father of the girl who disappeared last Wednesday night, said his daughter had written that she was working as a domestic in a Ft. Wayne home. She asked permission to keep the job.

In the letter, received today, Miss Zimmerman said she could make no explanation of her disappearance which would satisfy everybody, but emphasized that it did not involve "boy friend trouble" or difficulties with her studies.

Zimmerman and his wife planned to leave today for Ft. Wayne. They declined to give the name of the family with whom their daughter was living or the Ft. Wayne address.

Earlier the girl's family expressed belief she might be suffering a temporary "mental lapse," explaining that she had on previous occasions suffered temporary loss of memory.

Dean Jean Audrey Wilder of the university made a similar report to Bowling Green Police Chief Guy Spitler, who quoted the dean as saying Miss Zimmerman had an "emotional upset" and probably wandered away in a confused mental state. Dean Wilder said she did not believe the missing co-ed ever had a date before coming to the university.

VANDENBERG'S PLEDGE CHEERS U. N. DELEGATES

Turn to Talk of Permanent Site As GOP Leader Vows No Change of Attitude.

NEW YORK —(AP)— The 51 United Nations delegations, cheered by Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg's Republican party assurance of an unchanged American foreign policy, are looking for a permanent headquarters.

First reaction to Vandenberg's post-election pledge of wholehearted American cooperation with the U. N. was entirely favorable and it was looked upon as a promise that the incoming majority party in congress had no intention of fostering any vestige of isolationism.

Vandenberg, himself approaching the topmost American foreign policy-makers, stated an apparent adherence to the bipartisan character of the United States' policy in international affairs.

The Republican senator from Michigan in the course of a reiterated objection to the United States paying half the U. N. administrative budget for 1947, running over $23,000,000, said:

"I reassert, with whatever authority I possess, that regardless of what political regime sits in Washington, you can count upon the whole-hearted cooperation of the government of the United States in striving, through the United Nations, for a system of mutual defense against aggression and for organized peace-with-justice in a better, safer and happier world."

Issues headed for the assembly floor today included the question of permanent headquarters for the U. N.

The United States has been seeking to have a sub-committee named to survey the possibilities in the San Francisco and New York areas along with the suburban Westchester county.

Also on the program was a report from Secretary-General Trygve Lie which will note that the security council has now dropped the case of Franco Spain, leaving the assembly free to take action against the regime.

ARTISTS BACK RADIO STRIKE

(By Associated Press)

The three largest units of the AFL American Federation of Radio Artists favor a strike unless the four major networks agree to a new contract but there were some bright spots on the nation's labor front.

The New York and Chicago units Friday night joined the Hollywood unit of AFRA in authorizing their executive board to call a strike.

Other developments included:

Two Rochester, N. Y., newspapers suspended publication after a walkout of mechanical employes; principals in the 19-day-old strike by 1,400 AFL pilots against Trans World Airline were called into conference by a federal mediator in Washington; a threatened work stoppage at the Ford Motor company's big Rouge plant near Detroit disappeared; striking meat cutters and clerks voted to end their eight-day walkout.

Porter Ready To Resign as Powers Wane

Cabinet Officers Stand Firmly Behind Administration's Plans for Early Scrapping of All Controls Except on Sugar, Rent.

(Compiled from Wire Dispatches)

Although a haze of confusion beclouded the status of OPA today, agreement was general that the once-powerful price agency is tottering on the brink of oblivion.

Viewing the demise as an accomplished fact, International News Service reported:

"The OPA was under orders from President Truman today to end all price controls except those on rents and sugar."

That the death sentence is ready, if not already issued, was the tack taken by the Associated Press and United Press.

"Cabinet officers lined up today," said the AP, "in staunch support of administration plans for scrapping—perhaps next week—nearly all price and wage controls still on the books."

Previous reports that Price Administrator Paul A. Porter is ready to end his uneasy reign were confirmed by UP, which stated that Porter and other top officials are expected to resign, according to information from the informed sources.

The decontrol announcement also will bring the wholesale discharge of OPA employes, said these sources.

"The White House is expected to announce about the first of the week the end of all price controls except those on rent, sugar, rice, syrup and molasses. Wage controls probably will be swept away at the same time," the wire service reported.

"In addition to Porter, those expected to resign after the order is put out are John D. Small, Civilian Production administrator, and the three members of the price decontrol board—Roy L. Thompson, Daniel W. Bell and George H. Mead.

* * *

Pink Slips on Way.

About 9,500 OPA field employes will be given their pink slips on Tuesday. OPA gave notice to 600 employes yesterday. An additional 10,000 will get their walking papers when the 61 district OPA offices close soon.

Burke Fry, chairman of OPA's new liquidation committee, told reporters about 13,000 employes will be kept to administer rent and sugar controls and to liquidate the agency.

Fry and Deputy Administrator Max McCullough outlined plans for closing OPA district offices and other liquidation problems to the eight regional OPA administrators meeting here today. A few employes are expected to be retained in various cities throughout the country to handle the sugar rationing program. The eight regional offices and the hundreds of area rent offices are also expected to continue operating for the time being at least.

* * *

Denials Disregarded.

Despite official denials of Porter's resignation those close to him said his services would not be needed to run the rent and sugar rationing programs. It is expected that if Porter resigns, he will be reappointed chairman of the Federal Communications Commission, where his vacancy never has been filled.

COMMISSION NIPS GAS RATE SCHEDULE

WASHINGTON —(AP)— Suspension of a rate schedule covering Panhandle Eastern Pipeline company's sale of natural gas to the Ohio Fuel Gas company of Columbus, O., was announced today by the Federal Power Commission.

Under the schedule, Panhandle would cut from 50,000,000 to 25,000,000 cubic feet the volume of gas it is committed to deliver daily to Ohio Fuel, the commission explained, adding that the suspension was ordered on the ground that change of service might place undue burden on consumers.

JUDGE GRANTS $10,000

FREMONT— (AP) —Common Pleas Judge A. V. Baumann yesterday awarded Delbert Baker of Fremont $10,000 in a damage suit against Ralph Coonrod of Vickery whose automobile crushed Baker's legs in an accident a year ago.

'I'LL BE GOOD,' SAYS TRUMAN

President Drafting Public Statement Putting Nation Above Personal Interest.

BULLETIN

WASHINGTON —(INS)— The White House announced that President Truman will hold a news conference at 10 a. m. (EST) Monday.

WASHINGTON —(AP)— President Truman is drafting a public statement that he will place the nation's welfare above personal or party interest in the administration of government under a Republican congress, intimates said today.

The statement is planned for early next week, probably at a news conference. Persons who have talked with the chief executive since Tuesday's general election believe its tone will be conciliatory.

Mr. Truman, they say, will emphasize his hope for continued two-party support of the foreign policy developed by Secretary of State James F. Byrnes.

The best advised men around the White House say Mr. Truman intends to accept the verdict of the voters in good spirits. Even a bad head cold has not made him "downhearted."

The cold is so much better that he will visit Arlington National cemetery Monday to lay a wreath on the tomb of the unknown soldier as part of the general observance of Armistice day.

SCHOOLS TO CLOSE ON ARMISTICE DAY

Mansfield schools will be dismissed Monday because of the annual Armistice day celebration, Supt. W. Lawrence Miller announced yesterday.

This will include all pupils from the first grades on through senior high school. It will give city school children their second long weekend vacation since the opening of school in September and the first of two November vacations. Schools were dismissed from Thursday night until Monday morning when teachers attended annual conventions in Cleveland and other Ohio cities in October and they will have a long weekend recess over Thanksgiving.

Pupils of St. Peter's parochial school will also enjoy the three-day vacation.

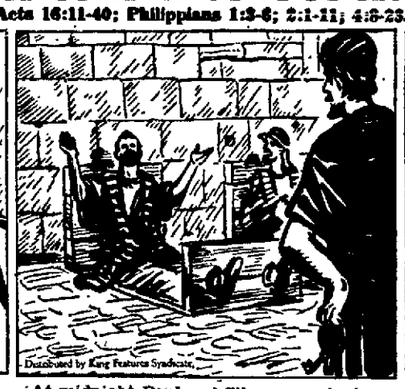
Paul Founds Church at Philippi — ILLUSTRATED SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON — By Alfred J. Buescher

Scripture—Acts 16:11-40; Philippians 1:3-6; 2:1-11; 4:8-23.

Paul, with three companions, went to Philippi, in Macedonia. On the Sabbath they went to the river where prayers were said when there was no synagogue, and there they met a woman named Lydia, who was baptized and then begged the disciples to stay at her house.

Paul cast out an evil spirit from a girl whose "spirit of divination" brought her masters much profit. The masters took Paul and Silas with them into the marketplace before the rulers, and there they were stripped and beaten, then put in the stocks in prison.



At midnight Paul and Silas were singing praises to God, when there was an earthquake and the fetters of all prisoners were broken. The keeper, sure his prisoners had escaped, was about to kill himself when Paul called to him not to do so as they were all there.

The prison keeper took Paul and Silas to his house, fed them and told them they were free, but Paul insisted that as the magistrates had imprisoned Roman citizens, they should come and set them free, which they did.

Missionary Tells Story Of Converting Cannibals

By ARTHUR ANDERSON

Through motion pictures made while he and his wife were serving Christianity in converting cannibals of the "Black Continent," Rev. D. A. Fairley, pioneer missionary in French Equatorial Africa, this week is bringing to Mansfielders attending the annual Missionary convention at the Grace Gospel church an account of the work accomplished there.

Rev. Fairley's story is that of a missionary and his wife who in 1935 followed French African troops into an area where no white man was previousy known to have penetrated successfully.

Into a mountainous jungle of Gabon where cannibals abounded then and still exist today and where tribes of thousands of pygmies lived in the jungle forests unknown to the outside world, Rev. Fairley found an area where a completely negative religion rigidly controlled by witchdoctors kept thousands of human beings impoverished and sick from want and fear.

Native Pastored Churches.

His is a story of how christian work has developed from nothing in 1935 to an attendance of 7,000 persons in 300 native pastored churches supervised by 18 missionaries.

Although Rev. Fairley and his wife began their pioneer missionary work in the Gabon area in 1935, he had made a survey trip of two and one-half months into the area in 1933.

Before the French troops succeeded in establishing garrisons and outposts in the area many of those who approached from the coast came floating back in their canoes, dead from the poisoned arrows of the natives. Others never returned.

"We were able to get trails cut through the jungle, bridges built across streams, land cleared and our home and mission built by directing the throngs of curious that gathered to see us and watch us work," Fairley said.

Gospel Translated.

First steps in the pioneer missionary work was to reduce the spoken language to writing and to translate the gospel of the new testament and Bible into their language, Rev. Fairley explained.

Fairley and his wife found that the native religion contained at least five of the Ten Commandments, but in a completely negative fashion. Those five were:

Thou shalt honor thy father, mother and elders.

Thou shalt not steal.

Thou shalt not lie.

Thou shalt not commit adultery.

Thou shalt not covet.

Fairley explained the negative nature of their religion this way:

The penalty for sin or breaking one of the laws is death. Everyone dies because he is bewitched, if you could keep from being bewitched you could live forever.

Christ's Story Works Wonders.

Just telling them the story of how Christ died for sinners worked wonders in converting many of them, the missionary said.

Fairley is proud that five of the major witch doctors are now Christian.

When converted the natives publicly burn their charms, fetishs and other items prized as part of their religion, he declared.

Fairley described how old plantation owners who had never worked, are now working in the fields with their wives after being converted.

In 1940, 19 tons of hydraulic power equipment was presented to Fairley by Le Tourneau. The natives have learned to operate this equipment successfully. With the aid of it they have accomplished in five years what would have required 15 years without it, he explained.

Natives Build Schools.

Schools and hospitals have been built with native labor entirely and more are being planned.

Currently Fairley is working on a book with a religious theme. He hopes to publish it soon under the title, "Hunting Pygmy Hunters."

He and his wife are recuperating from a dreaded tropical disease and expect to return to the Gabon area with their family in February.

HOROSCOPE

For Sunday, Nov. 10.

Sunday's horoscope calls for a definite pattern of conservative behavior, especially relating to all spoken and written speech, with calm reaction to aggravating, intemperate and rash acts, perhaps the home being the scene of friction, irritability and inharmony. However, social and romantic affairs are also jeopardized and call for tact, finesse, with charm and personality more effective than strife and crass realism. Be glamorous and amiable.

Those whose birthday it is should take themselves in hand to outline a program of accomplishment, compromise, pleasant contacts and lucrative agreements, during a year which may be beset with misunderstandings, friction, wrangling and inharmonies. They may be prone to intemperate, hasty and rash words, and deeds where there is actually much at stake and to be attained by cool, considerate and tactful conduct, with a realization of the power of charm, magnetic personality, and compromise rather than force and aggressiveness. Excellent prospects may crown finesse and discretion.

A child born on this day while having ideals and fine qualities, may be given to petty inharmonies and friction in home, business and even its affectional associations.

Revenge Hungry Irish Battle Black Knights

NEW YORK — (AP) — They've banned portable radios from Baker field today for the Penn-Columbia Ivy league sellout, so this block of football fans will have to have its ears attuned to the loudspeakers for the period scores of "that game."

"That game," in case you just got back from the moon and haven't caught up on world affairs, is the Yankee stadium clambake where a fortunate 74,000 will see Army and Notre Dame battle it out for national championship honors.

The thundering three-deep Notre Dame football horde and Army's avalanche of 60-minute men collide in a toss-up to decide whether it would be revenge for the Irish or the 26th straight for the Cadets.

Not in the memory of the oldest inhabitants has there been a football frolic like this one in these parts, with the nation's two mightiest moleskin machines moving onto Yankee stadium for the 1:30 p. m. (Mansfield time) kickoff.

Hungry for revenge from the 107 points under which the baleful Black Knights of the Hudson, headed by "the monster and his playmate"—Doc Blanchard and Glenn Davis—have buried them over the past two years, the Irish came to town roaring and full of fight. They brought the best Notre Dame squad in three years—three deep and sparked by the return from the wars of the classy quarterback (Johnny Lujack) and the cagy coach (Frank Leahy), who spearheaded the Irish to their last game win, back in '43.

The gambling gentlemen, however, take a very large view of the Cadets and quoted the odds at "6-to-5-and-pick-'em."

A series of unfortunate injuries in the last few days definitely removed Herschel (Ug) Fuson, fast and husky and a hawk on defense, from the Army backfield forces, and made it extremely doubtful that either fleet Floyd Simmons, just coming into his own as a halfback, or Ziggy Czarobski, right tackle mainstay, would see any action for Notre Dame.

The Penn-Columbia clash is the East's No. 2 offering, with the Quakers aiming to climb back nearer to the third-place rating in the nation's top ten they lost when they were upset by Princeton last week. Leadership in the Ivy league also hinges somewhat on this game.

Unbeaten and untied Georgia is seeking to retain its No. 3 ranking in taking on winless University of Florida, while the University of California at Los Angeles figures to guard its fourth-place position in its meeting with Oregon.

The Louisiana State-Alabama game at New Orleans should go far toward settling LSU's aspirations to the Southeastern conference crown.

Topping a three-game Western conference card, Northwestern and defending champion Indiana clash before an expected 40,000 in Evanston. Each needs a victory to keep its Big Nine title hopes alive. Iowa goes to Wisconsin for a showdown of the circuit's .500 performers while Purdue and Minnesota struggle to elude the cellar.

Illinois, current pace-setter in the conference, is idle. In a non-conference scrap, Michigan entertains Michigan State.

Ohio State's notoriously-rabid football fans found themselves in a new role today.

They had a soft spot in their hearts for the opponents, the Pittsburgh Panthers. None could countenance a Pittsburgh victory, of course, but many admitted they'd like to see the Panthers "make a good showing" against the highly-favored Bucks before an assured Dad's day crowd of 76,000 in Ohio stadium.

That's because the Panthers are coached by one of Ohio State's greatest all-around athletes of all time—Wesley Eugene Fesler, an All-Western conference guard in basketball, an All-America footballer both at end and in the backfield and the first baseballer to win the coveted Potter Runmaker trophy twice in a row while performing for Ohio State a decade and a half ago.

Coach Paul Bixler of Ohio State, pronouncing his team in its best physical condition in weeks, said he'd field the same starting eleven which has been going at a 39-points-a-game clip in Western conference circles the past two weeks.

Ralph Majors, Tygers Take Sixth Win

YOUNGSTOWN RAYEN NIPPED, 24-19

By FRED THARP, News-Journal Sports Editor.

Ralph Majors put on a great personal show at Stadium field last night as the Mansfield Tyger football aggregation ended a three-week victory famine by edging a plucky gang of Youngstown Rayen gridders, 24-19.

Majors sparked the latent power of the big Bengal grid machine to its top 1946 offensive total of 450 yards—by land and by air—and sped for three of the four Mansfield touchdowns. After scooting 54 yards for a TD on the fourth scrimmage play, Majors was well nigh unstoppable.

The quick running senior emulated Glenn Davis in piling up the astounding total of 201 yards on 20 ground plays and took three passes from the sure arm of Ollie Cline for 89 yards. The total offensive effort of 390 yards was 70 more than the potent Youngstown backs could muster.

Add this to Ralph's terrific defensive work and you have the Tygers' top individual performance of the year.

Cline also had quite a night for himself. The veteran Tyger handled the Bengal T party superbly and completed six of ten passes for 152 yards. One of the heaves was a 43-yard payoff toss to Al Henke. Another Cline-Henke strike was good for 16 yards to the two as the half ended.

Coach Paul Snyder's Bengal horde revealed signs of the terrific physical beating that they have absorbed in the last four games but were definitely the superior team in rolling up their sixth victory last night. The Bengals have lost only one and tied two.

Injured tackles Dave Boals and Bob Rondy saw some action but were joined in the "limp" brigade by Cline, Dave Richards and Bill McKee as the lighter Rayen gridders kept banging away.

The Snydermen wasted little time in asserting their authority and annexed three of their touchdowns in the first 18 minutes. Al Henke returned the opening kickoff eight yards to the 28 and McKee swept for 16 on the first scrimmage play. Majors and McKee made only one apiece.

Majors took the pigskin from Cline on a T quick-opener and broke loose over his left-end on a couple of sweet blocks. Once in the clear Harold Amsbaugh and Dick Logan escorted him the final 30 yards. A pass from center spoiled the extra-point try.

After an exchange of punts, Mansfield took over the leather on the Rayen 43. Cline pitched a strike to Henke on the 32 and the little Bengal flanker outraced the secondary for his first 1946 TD. Jim Sinerson missed the extra point.

An 80-yard march paid off to open the second stanza. Majors scooted for 18 on an inside reverse and then teamed with McKee and Cline to make another first down on the Bengal 49. McKee swept for seven and Majors made it another first down on the 40. A Cline-Majors reverse moved the ball to the 29 and McKee galloped over but a holding penalty erased the six-pointer.

Henke lost three on an end-around but Cline hit Majors for 10 yards. Cline whipped another aerial to Majors on the 10 and the ace half stumbled to the two. On the third line play Majors counted the 18th point. He missed the extra point.

Heyman, chunky Rayen fullback, took over after Carmen Anzivino carted the ensuing kickoff 25 yards to the Youngstown 39. He alternated with Penn in carrying the pigskin to the Tyger 30 in six plays and then circled his left end for 22 yards to the eight.

A plunge netted only two yards and then Heyman pounded off-tackle for five. He slid off-tackle for the counter but Gene Tarica missed the point.

Henke returned the kickoff to the Mansfield 39 and only a minute remained in the first half. Cline tossed a screen pass to Majors and he went 43 yards to the Rayen 18 with a rugged block by Ray Beard helping plenty. A short Cline aerial was incomplete and he missed Majors in the end zone.

The third toss connected with Henke but he was halted on the two as the gun banged.

Rayen kicked off to open the second half and a little hipper-dipper from Ross Frisbee to Cline to Majors brought the ball back 20 yards to the 40. On a couple of T formation quick-openers Majors shot for 18 yards and McKee for 12. They alternated in moving 11 yards for a first down on the 18.

Majors made the necessary distance in two trips. Cline tried to run the ball over for the 25th point and was stopped in his tracks.

Late in the third heat Rayen recovered a Mansfield fumble on the 50 and Heyman bolted for 21 yards. Penn added seven as the quarter ended. Penn plunged for one yard and Heyman swept for six yards and a first down on the 14. Two plunges moved the ball only four yards.

Rayen came dancing out of the huddle in a "three ring circus" power spread to the left and Anzivino lateralled wide to Markulin who was escorted across by a phalanx of blockers.

Youngstown got very definitely back in the game when Penn intercepted a Cline aerial and returned 10 yards to the Tyger 26. Seven plays advanced the leather to the four and Penn counted on a power spread, this time to the right. Tarica's placement try was good.

Cline intercepted a John Fortunato pass late in the fourth chapter. Majors went off tackle to the Tyger 48, a gain of six yards and on the last play of the game stepped high, wide and handsome for 35 yards only to be pulled down from behind.

Fred Reali, Rayen's great center, was a bearcat on defense.

Newman defeated Carpenter in a grade school touch football preliminary, 6 to 0. Jaynes passed to Burns who ran 60-yards for the only score.

ALL BUNDLED UP—Kenny Horvath, injured Tyger fullback, watches the Bengals record their sixth victory last night at Stadium field. Horvath suffered a broken leg three weeks ago in practice. At the time of the mishap Horvath was the leading Tyger scorer and ground-gainer. Shown with Horvath on the Tyger bench are Tackle Bob Marth (left) and Guard Bruno Mollica.—(N-J photo)

Madison Meets Millersburg In Final 1946 Grid Conflict

By BRUCE M'GINTY

Mansfield Madison rings down its 1946 grid curtain tonight in a Northeastern Buckeye league game against Millersburg on the Ram gridiron at 8 o'clock.

Coach Jeff DeHaven's squad has won five games against two setbacks and will be out to clinch second place in the league tonight. The Rams have lost only one loop game, to Orrville, 12 to 0.

Millersburg has yet to win a game and is expected to throw everything in the books at the Rams. However, DeHaven is confident that his team will be victorious.

This encounter will be the last high school game for 13 seniors under the tutorage of the Rams' mentor, namely:

Captain Jack Cleckner, Dan Stevens, Martin Hall, Don Cornell, Mike Tormaschy, Bob Gottfried, Charles Campbell, Fred Frost, Dick Glenn, Kenny Gabor, Dick Schuttera, Jack Herr, and Wayne Strang.

Cleckner, Tormaschy, Herr and Campbell will be making their final bid for all-league berths, along with underclassmen Herb Eldridge, Dick Ernsberger and Eldon Pritchard.

Don Morris, guard, will be unable to play in tonight's tussle due to an injury he received two weeks ago in the Fredericktown game.

DeHaven said that he plans to substitute his 1947 prospects to give them game experience.

Coach Bill Kopcial's reserves defeated Mt. Vernon, 19 to 12, yesterday with Dick Broach, Madison freshman, scoring all three touchdowns.

DeHaven announced Broach, Jim Brightbill, sophomore tackle, Bruce Armstrong, freshman tackle, Norman Hughes, freshman guard, and Pat Patterson, sophomore guard, would see some action against Millersburg.

Broach, a halfback, led the Rams in the second half of the Fredericktown game with several five and 10-yard off-tackle smashes.

Galion Holds Ashland to Tie

GALION — Little Galion high school, with only two victories in six starts, surprised a more powerful Ashland eleven last night and held them to a 12 to 12 deadlock at Heise park, in a non-league game.

Lynn Heskett scored the first TD on a 16-yard aerial play from Ramsey, after a 59-yard march. Ramsey scored the second Galion touchdown after the Tigers had blocked an Ashland punt on their own 18.

Hurst, Ashland fullback, scored both TD's for the visitors on short plunges through center. The "A's" had previously defeated Shelby, Northern Ohio league leaders, 18 to 0, and were rated four touchdowns better than Galion.

Toledo Waite's 40 to 6 Defeat Of Massillon Tops Grid Games

By JOHN BARRINGTON, INS Sports Writer.

The scholastic football world reverberated today with tales of Toledo Waite's amazing 40 to 6 thumping of Massillon last night.

Startling enough was the effect of that rout on the Ohio football scene, but it was all the more amazing because Massillon had stacked up a nationwide reputation over a period of years.

While recent Tiger elevens haven't been as great as those produced in the golden era of Paul Brown, people still don't go around hanging 40-6 shiners on Massillon.

Rather, they didn't until last night. Waite, led by Fullback Bill Gregus, completely routed the Tigers—and on their own soil, too. Gregus scored four touchdowns, one on a dash of 67 yards.

Waite tallied in the first six minutes of play and went on to lead 27-0 by halftime. Massillon couldn't find paydirt until the final quarter when Al Brown passed to Gene Zorger on the goal line.

The game had been billed as a toss-up with the two teams ranked practically even in the latest International News Service poll of sports writers.

So impressive was the Waite triumph that it was expected to lift the Indians to at least an equal billing with Cleveland Cathedral Latin, the state's top team seven weeks. Latin was scheduled to meet Cleveland Central today.

While Waite humiliated the Tigers, other INS "big ten" selections fared well.

Lima Central waltzed to its ninth straight victory as it whipped Fremont Ross, 14 to 0. Steubenville Central Catholic added to its mark of seven wins and a tie with an unexpectedly easy 47-0 trouncing of East Liverpool.

Toledo Libbey avenged the only tie on its otherwise perfect slate by drubbing Woodward, 40 to 13 in a return game. Libbey, incidentally, could be quite smug about Waite's victory, for it upset the Indians, 8 to 6, a few weeks ago.

SHELBY — Shelby won undisputed possession of first place in the Northern Ohio league by defeating Crestline here last night, 37-12.

Browns Study Game Movies

SAN FRANCISCO, Calif. —(INS)—The Cleveland Browns studied moving pictures of their first game with the San Francisco 49ers as they brushed up their defenses today for the Frankie Albert-Alyn Beals duo.

Albert and Beals were the big guns in the 49ers victory over the Browns in Cleveland three weeks ago and Coach Paul Brown wanted to make sure it wouldn't happen again in tomorrow's game in Kezar stadium.

Coach Buck Shaw of the 49ers however, has been grooming Earl Parsons and Kenny Casanega for offense this past week in order to present a more diversified attack. The two have been used primarily on defense throughout most of the season.

Miami Defeats Miami, 20-17

The University of Miami Hurricanes kept the "Confusion bowl" title at Coral Gables, Fla., by edging Miami university Redskins of Oxford, O., 20-17 in a nip-and-tuck football game that thrilled 31,158 perspiring fans Friday night.

The Redskins broke out of a 7-7 tie in the second period on a 17-yard field goal by Tom Cole, right halfback, but the Floridans drove 64 yards to regain the lead at halftime 14-10. The Hurricanes scored another touchdown in the third period, but so did the Ohio team. In the scoreless final period the home team repulsed the visitors' desperate efforts to overcome the three-point margin.

Revenge Hungry Irish Battle Black Knights

NEW YORK — (AP) — They've banned portable radios from Baker field today for the Penn-Columbia Ivy league sellout, so this block of football fans will have to have its ears attuned to the loudspeakers for the period scores of "that game."

"That game," in case you just got back from the moon and haven't caught up on world affairs, is the Yankee stadium clambake where a fortunate 74,000 will see Army and Notre Dame battle it out for national championship honors.

The thundering three-deep Notre Dame football horde and Army's avalanche of 60-minute men collide in a toss-up to decide whether it would be revenge for the Irish or the 26th straight for the Cadets.

Not in the memory of the oldest inhabitants has there been a football frolic like this one in these parts, with the nation's two mightiest moleskin machines moving onto Yankee stadium for the 1:30 p. m. (Mansfield time) kickoff.

Hungry for revenge from the 107 points under which the baleful Black Knights of the Hudson, headed by "the monster and his playmate"—Doc Blanchard and Glenn Davis—have buried them over the past two years, the Irish came to town roaring and full of fight. They brought the best Notre Dame squad in three years—three deep and sparked by the return from the wars of the classy quarterback (Johnny Lujack) and the cagy coach (Frank Leahy), who spearheaded the Irish to their last game win, back in '43.

The gambling gentlemen, however, take a very large view of the Cadets and quoted the odds at "6-to-5-and-pick-'em."

A series of unfortunate injuries in the last few days definitely removed Herschel (Ug) Fuson, fast and husky and a hawk on defense, from the Army backfield forces, and made it extremely doubtful that either fleet Floyd Simmons, just coming into his own as a halfback, or Ziggy Czarobski, right tackle mainstay, would see any action for Notre Dame.

The Penn-Columbia clash is the East's No. 2 offering, with the Quakers aiming to climb back nearer to the third-place rating in the nation's top ten they lost when they were upset by Princeton last week. Leadership in the Ivy league also hinges somewhat on this game.

Unbeaten and untied Georgia is seeking to retain its No. 3 ranking in taking on winless University of Florida, while the University of California at Los Angeles figures to guard its fourth-place position in its meeting with Oregon.

The Louisiana State-Alabama game at New Orleans should go far toward settling LSU's aspirations to the Southeastern conference crown.

Topping a three-game Western conference card, Northwestern and defending champion Indiana clash before an expected 40,000 in Evanston. Each needs a victory to keep its Big Nine title hopes alive. Iowa goes to Wisconsin for a showdown of the circuit's .500 performers while Purdue and Minnesota struggle to elude the cellar.

Illinois, current pace-setter in the conference, is idle. In a non-conference scrap, Michigan entertains Michigan State.

Ohio State's notoriously-rabid football fans found themselves in a new role today.

They had a soft spot in their hearts for the opponents, the Pittsburgh Panthers. None could countenance a Pittsburgh victory, of course, but many admitted they'd like to see the Panthers "make a good showing" against the highly-favored Bucks before an assured Dad's day crowd of 76,000 in Ohio stadium.

That's because the Panthers are coached by one of Ohio State's greatest all-around athletes of all time—Wesley Eugene Fesler, an All-Western conference guard in basketball, an All-America footballer both at end and in the backfield and the first baseballer to win the coveted Potter Runmaker trophy twice in a row while performing for Ohio State a decade and a half ago.

Coach Paul Bixler of Ohio State, pronouncing his team in its best physical condition in weeks, said he'd field the same starting eleven which has been going at a 39-points-a-game clip in Western conference circles the past two weeks.

Ralph Majors, Tygers Take Sixth Win

YOUNGSTOWN RAYEN NIPPED, 24-19

By FELD THARP, News-Journal Sports Editor.

Ralph Majors put on a great personal show at Stadium field last night as the Mansfield Tyger football aggregation ended a three-week victory famine by edging a plucky gang of Youngstown Rayen gridders, 24-19.

Majors sparked the latent power of the big Bengal grid machine to its top 1946 offensive total of 450 yards—by land and by air—and sped for three of the four Mansfield touchdowns. After scoring 54 yards for a TD on the fourth scrimmage play, Majors was well nigh unstoppable.

The quick running senior emulated Glenn Davis in piling up the astounding total of 201 yards on 20 ground plays and took three passes from the sure arm of Ollie Cline for 89 yards. The total offensive effort of 390 yards was 70 more than the potent Youngstown backs could muster.

Add this to Ralph's terrific defensive work and you have the Tygers' top individual performance of the year.

Cline also had quite a night for himself. The veteran Tyger handled the Bengal T party superbly and completed six of ten passes for 112 yards. One of the heaves was a 43-yard payoff toss to Al Henke. Another Cline-Henke strike was good for 16 yards to the two as the half ended.

Coach Paul Snyder's Bengal horde revealed signs of the terrific physical beating that they have absorbed in the last four games but were definitely the superior team in rolling up their sixth victory last night. The Bengals have lost only one and tied two.

Injured tackles Dave Boals and Bob Rondy saw some action but were joined in the "limp" brigade by Cline, Dave Richards and Bill McKee as the lighter Rayen gridders kept banging away.

The Snydermen wasted little time in asserting their authority and annexed three of their touchdowns in the first 18 minutes. Al Henke returned the opening kickoff eight yards to the 28 and McKee swept for 16 on the first scrimmage play. Majors and McKee made only one apiece.

Majors took the pigskin from Cline on a T quick-opener and broke loose over his left-end on a couple of sweet blocks. Once in the clear Harold Amsbaugh and Dick Logan escorted him the final 30 yards. A pass from center spoiled the extra-point try.

After an exchange of punts, Mansfield took over the leather on the Rayen 43. Cline pitched a strike to Henke on the 32 and the little Bengal flanker outraced the secondary for his first 1946 TD. Jim Smerson missed the extra point.

An 80-yard march paid off to open the second stanza. Majors scooted for 18 on an inside reverse and then teamed with McKee and Cline to make another first down on the Bengal 49. McKee swept for seven and Majors made it another first down on the 40. A Cline-Majors reverse moved the ball to the 28 and McKee galloped over but a holding penalty erased the six-pointer.

Henke lost three on an end-around but Cline hit Majors for 10 yards. Cline whipped another aerial to Majors on the 10 and the ace half stumbled to the two. On the third line play Majors counted the 18th point. He missed the extra point.

Heyman, chunky Rayen fullback, took over after Carmen Anzivino carted the ensuing kickoff 25 yards to the Youngstown 39. He alternated with Penn in carrying the pigskin to the Tyger 30 in six plays and then circled his left end for 22 yards to the eight.

A plunge netted only two yards and then Heyman pounded off-tackle for five. He slid off-tackle for the counter but Gene Tarica missed the point.

Henke returned the kickoff to the Mansfield 39 and only a minute remained in the first half. Cline tossed a screen pass to Majors and he went 43 yards to the Rayen 18 with a rugged block by Ray Beard helping plenty. A short Cline aerial was incomplete and he missed Majors in the end zone.

The third toss connected with Henke but he was halted on the two as the gun banged.

Rayen kicked off to open the second half and a little hipper-dipper from Ross Frisbee to Cline to Majors brought the ball back 20 yards to the 40. On a couple of T formation quick-openers Majors shot for 18 yards and McKee for 12. They alternated in moving 11 yards for a first down on the 18.

Majors made the necessary distance in two trips. Cline tried to run the ball over for the 25th point and was stopped in his tracks.

Late in the third heat Rayen recovered a Mansfield fumble on the 50 and Heyman bolted for 21 yards. Penn added seven as the quarter ended. Penn plunged for one yard and Heyman swept for six yards and a first down on the 14. Two plunges moved the ball only four yards.

Rayen came dancing out of the huddle in a "three ring circus" power spread to the left and Anzivino lateralled wide to Markulin who was escorted across by a phalanx of blockers.

Youngstown got very definitely back in the game when Penn intercepted a Cline aerial and returned 10 yards to the Tyger 26. Seven plays advanced the leather to the four and Penn counted on a power spread, this time to the right. Tarica's placement try was good.

Cline intercepted a John Fortunato pass late in the fourth chapter. Majors went off tackle to the Tyger 48, a gain of six yards and on the last play of the game stepped high, wide and handsome for 35 yards only to be pulled down from behind.

Fred Reali, Rayen's great center, was a bearcat on defense.

Newman defeated Carpenter in a grade school touch football preliminary, 6 to 0. Jaynes passed to Burns who ran 60-yards for the only score.

ALL BUNDLED UP—Kenny Horvath, injured Tyger fullback, watches the Bengals record their sixth victory last night at Stadium field. Horvath suffered a broken leg three weeks ago in practice. At the time of the mishap Horvath was the leading Tyger scorer and ground-gainer. Shown with Horvath on the Tyger bench are Tackle Bob Marth (left) and Guard Bruno Mollica.—(N-J photo)

Madison Meets Millersburg In Final 1946 Grid Conflict

By BRUCE M'GINTY

Mansfield Madison rings down its 1946 grid curtain tonight in a Northeastern Buckeye league game against Millersburg on the Ram gridiron at 8 o'clock.

Coach Jeff DeHaven's squad has won five games against two setbacks and will be out to clinch second place in the league tonight. The Rams have lost only one loop game, to Orrville, 12 to 0.

Millersburg has yet to win a game and is expected to throw everything in the books at the Rams. However, DeHaven is confident that his team will be victorious.

This encounter will be the last high school game for 13 seniors under the tutorage of the Rams' mentor, namely:

Captain Jack Cleckner, Dan Stevens, Martin Hall, Don Cornell, Mike Tormaschy, Bob Gottfried, Charles Campbell, Fred Frost, Dick Glenn, Kenny Gabor, Dick Schuttera, Jack Herr, and Wayne Strang.

Cleckner, Tormaschy, Herr and Campbell will be making their final bid for all-league berths, along with underclassmen Herb Eldridge, Dick Ernsberger and Eldon Pritchard.

Don Morris, guard, will be unable to play in tonight's tussle due to an injury he received two weeks ago in the Fredericktown game.

DeHaven said that he plans to substitute his 1947 prospects to give them game experience.

Coach Bill Kopcial's reserves defeated Mt. Vernon, 19 to 12, yesterday with Dick Broach, Madison freshman, scoring all three touchdowns.

DeHaven announced Broach, Jim Brightbill, sophomore tackle, Bruce Armstrong, freshman tackle, Norman Hughes, freshman guard, and Pat Patterson, sophomore guard, would see some action against Millersburg.

Broach, a halfback, led the Rams in the second half of the Fredericktown game with several five and 10-yard off-tackle smashes.

Galion Holds Ashland to Tie

GALION — Little Galion high school, with only two victories in six starts, surprised a more powerful Ashland eleven last night and held them to a 12 to 12 deadlock at Heise park, in a non-league game.

Lynn Heskett scored the first TD on a 16-yard aerial play from Ramsey, after a 59-yard march. Ramsey scored the second Galion touchdown after the Tigers had blocked an Ashland punt on their own 18.

Hurst, Ashland fullback, scored both TD's for the visitors on short plunges through center. The "A's" had previously defeated Shelby, Northern Ohio league leaders, 18 to 0, and were rated four touchdowns better than Galion.

Browns Study Game Movies

SAN FRANCISCO, Calif. —(INS)—The Cleveland Browns studied moving pictures of their first game with the San Francisco 49ers as they brushed up their defenses today for the Frankie Albert-Alyn Beals duo.

Albert and Beals were the big guns in the 49ers victory over the Browns in Cleveland three weeks ago and Coach Paul Brown wanted to make sure it wouldn't happen again in tomorrow's game in Kezar stadium.

Coach Buck Shaw of the 49ers however, has been grooming Earl Parsons and Kenny Casanega for offense this past week in order to present a more diversified attack. The two have been used primarily on defense throughout most of the season.

Cage Loops Formed At Friendly House

Mike Wentz, athletic director of the Friendly House, announced today that there is still room for one team in the junior basketball league and a couple of hardwood quintets in the senior loop.

The Slop Shots, Junior Optimists, Saprano's Cigar store, Wildcats and Roseland have entered the junior league.

So far only two squads, Rex Billiards and Marshall's Market have signed up for the senior loop. Any teams interested in joining either league should contact Wentz immediately:

Miami Defeats Miami, 20-17

The University of Miami Hurricanes kept the "Confusion bowl" title at Coral Gables, Fla. by edging Miami university Redskins of Oxford, O., 20-17 in a nip-and-tuck football game that thrilled 31,152 perspiring fans Friday night.

The Redskins broke out of a 7-7 tie in the second period on a 17-yard field goal by Tom Cole, right halfback, but the Floridans drove 64 yards to regain the lead at halftime 14-10. The Hurricanes scored another touchdown in the third period, but so did the Ohio team. In the scoreless final period the home team repulsed the visitors' desperate efforts to overcome the three-point margin.

Toledo Waite's 40 to 6 Defeat Of Massillon Tops Grid Games

By JOHN BARRINGTON, INS Sports Writer.

The scholastic football world reverberated today with tales of Toledo Waite's amazing 40 to 6 thumping of Massillon last night.

Startling enough was the effect of that rout on the Ohio football scene, but it was all the more amazing because Massillon had stacked up a nationwide reputation over a period of years.

While recent Tiger elevens haven't been as great as those produced in the golden era of Paul Brown, people still don't go around hanging 40-6 shiners on Massillon.

Rather, they didn't until last night. Waite, led by Fullback Bill Gregus, completely routed the Tigers—and on their own soil, too. Gregus scored four touchdowns, one on a dash of 67 yards.

Waite tallied in the first six minutes of play and went on to lead 27-0 by halftime. Massillon couldn't find paydirt until the final quarter when Al Brown passed to Gene Zoger on the goal line.

The game had been billed as a toss-up with the two teams ranked practically even in the latest International News Service poll of sports writers.

But impressive was the Waite triumph that it was expected to lift the Indians to at least an equal billing with Cleveland Cathedral Latin, the state's top team seven weeks. Latin was scheduled to meet Cleveland Central today.

While Waite humiliated the Tigers, other INS "big ten" selections fared well.

Lima Central waltzed to its ninth straight victory as it whipped Fremont Ross, 14 to 0. Steubenville, Central Catholic added to its mark of seven wins and a tie with an unexpectedly easy 47-0 trouncing of East Liverpool.

Toledo Libbey avenged the only tie on its otherwise perfect slate by drubbing Woodward, 40 to 13 in a return game. Libbey, incidentally, could be quite smug about Waite's victory, for it upset the Indians, 8 to 6, a few weeks ago.

SHELBY — Shelby won undisputed possession of first place in the Northern Ohio league by defeating Crestline here last night, 37-12.

A CHANGE OF FARE

"Rattles the Kingfisher has funny feet," said Peter Rabbit to Mrs. Peter as from the distance the rattling cry of the tousle-headed fisherman reached them in the dear Old Briar-patch.

"You don't say," replied Mrs. Peter, who wasn't interested in any feet but her own.

"Yes," said Peter. "For the size they are very small, and each foot has four toes."

"You don't say," repeated Mrs. Peter. "Most birds do have, don't they?" she added.

"And here is the funny thing about them," continued Peter just as if Mrs. Peter hadn't spoken at all. "Two of those toes have grown together."

Now Mrs. Peter was mildly interested. "The poor thing," said she. "If they've grown together, of course he can't spread them. I'd hate not to be able to spread my toes. Toes grown together must be very unhandy."

"Rattles doesn't think so. He thinks he couldn't get along half so well and do what he has to do if it were not for those toes grown together. He digs holes in banks and when he digs a hole with that big bill of his he has to kick the earth out behind him. With toes grown together it is a lot easier to push and kick that earth out than it would be with single toes. I can see that. Can't you?" said Peter. "He showed me one of his feet. The two toes were joined about half their length. A good idea, isn't it?" he added.

"It may be for him," but I'm glad my toes don't grow together. Yes, sir, I am so," replied Mrs. Peter.

There is a name for toes and fingers that grow together, but probably Peter never has heard it. Perhaps you never have. It is syn-dac-tyl. I wouldn't like to have syn-dac-tyl hands or feet. Would you? But don't you love that word?

Peter had thought he knew all about Rattles the Kingfisher, but he hadn't known about those syn-dac-tyl feet, and presently he found out that there were other things he didn't know about Rattles.

"I should think," said Peter, "that you would get awfully tired of fish. And there must be days when you can't catch any fish. What do you do then?"

"Eat other things," replied Rattles," who had stopped in a small tree in the Old Briar-patch. "Do you think me stupid?"

"Of course not!" cried Peter. "That's a queer question to ask me."

"No more queer than for you to ask me what I do when I can't catch fish. I certainly would be stupid if I went hungry when there were other things to eat," retorted Rattles.

"But—but—" began Peter and stopped.

"But what?" demanded Rattles.

"I've never seen you eat anything but fish so I have supposed that you don't eat anything else. What is more I guess most folks think the same thing," replied Peter.

"I guess it is a fixed idea. It is queer to me how so many folks get fixed ideas," replied Rattles.

"What is a fixed idea?" asked Peter wonderingly.

"You see some one do a certain thing a few times. Then you expect him to do that certain thing and never watch to see if he does anything else. Soon you believe that he doesn't do anything else. That idea becomes so fixed in your mind that he can do other things, right before your face, just as I've been doing here, and you don't see him do it," explained Rattles.

"What have you been doing that I haven't seen?" demanded Peter.

"Picking berries within reach ever since I perched in this tree and eating them. The water was too rough for fishing this morning, but I haven't gone hungry. I had a small Mouse, two big Beetles and a big Grasshopper before I came over here for a few berries. Fixed ideas are well enough when they are right, but remember, Peter Rabbit, that unless you watch out a wrong idea may become fixed as easily as a right idea," said Rattles. He took to his wings and headed for the Smiling Pool.

CASE PLANNING NEW ATTEMPTS TO CURB LABOR

Author of Anti-Strike Bill Vetoed By Truman Expects 'Broader Legislation.'

WASHINGTON — (INS) — Rep. Francis Case (R) S. D., disclosed today that new labor legislation will be introduced in the Republican controlled 80th congress "broader in scope" than his bill which President Truman vetoed.

In a statement from his home at Custer, S. D., Case told International News Service:

"We plan to reintroduce some labor legislation, broader in scope than the bill that was vetoed. I would not care to say in just what way at the present time."

It was expected that the new legislation would be sponsored in the house by a coalition of Republicans and southern Democrats, with sufficient votes this time to override a presidential veto if necessary. The house upheld Mr. Truman's veto of the Case bill, which union leaders denounced as anti-labor.

The house was expected to spark the drive for new labor legislation as soon as congress reconvenes, as it did during the present congress.

Sen. Ball (R) Minn., was expected to head the senate drive. He termed the Republican victory at the polls a mandate from the voters to clear up labor-management muddles.

How drastic the new legislation will be appeared dependent largely on two factors: (1) The attitude of Republican leaders, with an eye to the 1948 presidential election, and (2) Current labor-management relations. If a wave of strikes sweeps the nation while congress is considering labor legislation, Republican leaders probably would find it difficult to head off drastic action.

The Case labor bill, drawn up in large part by Rep. Smith (D) Va., and Rep. Halleck (R) Ind., provided for a "cooling off" period before strikes, fact-finding boards, outlawing of strike violence, union liability in the courts, treble damages against unions engaging in secondary boycotts and jurisdictional disputes, and a prohibition against organizing supervisory employes.

MENRATH, 84, DIES BY HANGING

Mathias Menrath, 84, a resident of the Charles Guiher rest home at Epworth on State Route 545 north, hanged himself about 4 p. m. yesterday in a tool shed at the rest home, sheriff's deputies reported today.

His body was discovered by a roommate, Arthur Throne, a short time later, deputies said.

Deputies said Menrath had been a resident of the rest home since July 2, 1945.

Dr. D. C. Lavender, county coroner, examined the body and Deputy Sheriff Ralph Hildebrand made the investigation.

Menrath had been a resident of Mansfield for 49 years and had been ill for the past four months.

Born in Austria-Hungary, Mr. Menrath came directly to Mansfield upon arrival in the United States. He was a member of the Greater Beneficial Union.

He leaves one son, Joseph, of Mansfield; a daughter, Mrs. Elizabeth Tagsherer of Fairhope, Ala.; nine grandchildren, and four great grandchildren.

The body has been taken to the Geiger funeral home where friends may call. Burial arrangements are incomplete.

BROADWAY TORCH SONG: (By Don Wahn): So in the dusk I light a cigaret. And read a scrapbook filled with slender rhymes. And what is there to reckon or regret? When one has been in love with other times? . . . This is the price that children always pay. Who cannot cope with times that twist and change. Who chant the golden songs of yesterday . . . Before the world grew perilous and strange . . . There are new Inns with strangers at the door. There are new songs that I could never learn. Where are the silken garments that I wore? Where are the fires that had so long to burn? . . . Here in the lovely dusk I sit apart . . . And soothe the ghosts that sob within my heart.

Lippmann — Today and Tomorrow

WE MIGHT ask ourselves when it is that a bipartisan conduct of foreign affairs is necessary and workable. The answer, I think, is: When almost everyone agrees that the country needs a united foreign policy, although it is not yet settled just what the policy ought to be. For whenever it is necessary to work out a bipartisan arrangement, it is a sure sign that new decisions are in the making. Bipartisanship is an arrangement by public-spirited men for dealing with those critical periods when a policy is forming but is not yet formed.

If and when a policy is fully formed and proved, it ceases to be bipartisan and becomes national.

For more than a century, for example, no one has thought of the Monroe Doctrine as depending on bipartisan agreement. The essential principle of the Monroe Doctrine—that the Western Hemisphere is closed to imperial expansion and intervention by non-American powers—has been so well settled that either party, any president, would uphold it and would have the united support of the people when he did uphold it. It has been, in this sense, more than bipartisan; it has been national.

* * *

BUT IT TOOK about thirty years for the country to reach this point of settled agreement. During the first years of the republic, when Europe and the world were engaged in the Napoleonic wars, the country was dangerously divided on party lines, and became twice involved—first on one side and then on the other of that world war.

The infant republic had not yet found its own line of vital interest and policy. Only about eight years after the end of that world war did an American policy emerge. It was established as a result of bipartisan consultation and agreement in Monroe's administration, and it was so well conceived that in its essentials it was the foreign policy of all Americans for the remainder of the century.

Since 1914, and indeed since the Spanish war of 1898, the country has again been in the throes of forming a new foreign policy. Only parts of it are, even now, well settled—for example that the United States has vital interests in the whole region of the Pacific. The presidential election of 1900 was fought hotly with this as a leading issue. Many years passed before there was such sufficient agreement about the Pacific and the Far East that Franklin D. Roosevelt, a Democrat, could defend at the risk of war with Japan the interest in China and the far Pacific which was first declared, against tremendous internal opposition here at home, by Theodore Roosevelt and John Hay and Elihu Root.

* * *

EVEN AT THE END of the first World war our Far Eastern policy was still so unsettled that Mr. Hughes, when he was secretary of state, had to operate through a bipartisan agreement with the Democratic leaders of the senate.

We are now in the process of forming an American national policy for Europe and the Middle East. It is agreed by almost everyone now that the United States is vitally interested. But no one, literally no one, is quite clear and certain what our interest is and how it is to be implemented. A bipartisan arrangement may be necessary until a settlement in Europe is reached which permits us to have a settled policy in relation to Europe. That will surely take a good many years.

Some important aspects of the new policy have, however, reached the point where our position no longer depends on a bipartisan arrangement and has become the national position. I do not think we are counting our chickens before they are hatched if we say that full and active participation in the United Nations is now a settled national policy. We can say also, I think, that the determination is fixed to play a leading part in the settlement of the war: the country will not withdraw from the settlement as it did in 1920.

* * *

BUT THE PART it will play in the settlement is still experimental, unclarified and indeterminate. There is no use pretending that the excellent working arrangement represented by Secretary Byrnes and Senator Vandenberg is operating on a clear and well considered conception of how the world war should be settled. That is something to be worked for. It is not something which has already been achieved.

The eventual form of American policy towards Europe and Asia will depend in very large measure on whether there can be a political settlement in the world while the Republican party adjusts itself to the fact that in the conduct of internal affairs 1947 is not and cannot be 1920.

For we fact the fact that we have to make a world settlement while the Republicans, who are rising to power, are profoundly uncertain as to what the modern age requires of them.

EX-CANDIDATE GETS PROBATION

MILLERSBURG — (INS) — Charles W. Monticue of nearby Winesburg, who ran a poor fourth in Tuesday's election on a Holmes county sheriff, was placed on probation today after pleading guilty to two counts of a year-old indictment.

Monticue was arrested a few days before election by one of the rival candidates, Acting Sheriff Wayne D. Starner, on seven charges in connection with a disturbance at a Winesburg inn. He had been held under $5,600 bond, but was released on his own recognizance yesterday after reversing his plea to the older charges.

Common Pleas Judge Elmo Estill suspended a year's workhouse sentence and $300 of $400 fine on the two counts of assault and battery and pointing firearms. H o w e v e r, he remanded Monticue to the grand jury on the seven new charges.

Starner was victorious in his campaign to be elected sheriff.

Madison High School Notes

Wednesday the student body witnessed a fine program in the school auditorium given by Alice and Harold Allen. The pupils learned how sound effects are produced on the radio. Some of the amazing things were the sound of rain made by pouring bird seed into a paper sack and thunder made by shaking B B's inside a basketball bladder.

Tonight is the last Madison football game of the season. The Rams play against the Millersburg team. After the game there will be a dance in the school auditorium sponsored by the junior class. Music will be furnished by the Jivin' Jacks from Senior high school.

GOP RIVALRY FLARES OVER HOUSE LEADER

Halleck, Brown Head List of Aspirants, With Jenkins Rated As 'Dark Horse.'

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Supporters of Rep. Charles A. Halleck of Indiana claimed today the job of house Republican floor leader in the 80th congress "is in the bag" for the 46-year-old Hoosier.

Friends of Rep. Clarence Brown countered promptly that the 57-year-old Ohioan "has it all sewed up."

The contest goes on against a background of jockeying for advantage in the campaign for the 1948 Republican presidential nomination.

Halleck backers say election of Brown would give Senator Robert A. Taft and the state of Ohio entirely too much weight in the new congress. Taft, already in line for the senate leadership, is one of the GOP presidential hopefuls and Brown is regarded as a member of his camp.

Neither Halleck nor Brown has officially announced his candidacy for the No. 2 majority spot in the next house, where the top post of speaker already has been earmarked for Rep. Joseph W. Martin, jr., of Massachusetts.

Work Behind Scenes.

But colleagues of both are working avidly behind the scenes, and in the case of Halleck, at least, have sent letters to all Republican representatives-elect requesting their support. Similar letters are expected to be forthcoming from Brown's lieutenants.

Halleck's friends claim he is entitled to the leadership both by seniority and tradition. He has been in congress four years longer than Brown and has been chairman of the Republican congressional campaign committee, a post held by Martin before he became Republican floor leader.

The Brown forces insist he merits the job because he directed the campaign which put Republicans in control of congress in last Tuesday's elections.

A dark horse, Rep. Thomas Jenkins of Ohio, is out to beat both Halleck and Brown.

Jenkins, chairman of the GOP congressional food study committee, has prepared letters to all elected Republicans asking that they support him.

The giant bomber carries 10,000 pounds of bombs for 10,000 miles, which in terms of missions means that it can carry an atomic bomb to any inhabited region in the world and return to the U. S. But the army is not alone in releasing news of bigger and better planes, for the navy is revealing the world's largest transport airplane, lower photo. Attorneys Hear of Work Of Cuyahoga County Court

"The job of our court is to help people to do the things they would otherwise have to be ordered to do," E. Dana Brooks, director of the department of domestic relations of the Cuyahoga county common pleas court, told Richland county attorneys yesterday.

Brooks addressed the county bar association at its luncheon meeting at the Mansfield-Leland hotel.

The association obtained Brooks as a luncheon speaker who could instruct them on methods and procedures involved in divorce trials in the metropolitan county.

Creation of a domestic relations court in Richland county to handle certain types of cases now heard by the common pleas and probate courts has been discussed by judges and attorneys.

"The department is not a social agency," Brooks said. It was not created to reform people. It also is not a court; it makes no decisions or recommendations. But it does play a large part in obtaining court decisions on divorce petitions by providing the court with the facts. It is an investigative agency.

Helps Children.

"The department's p r i m a r y function is to assist children in divorce cases, to aid reconciliations between man and wife threatened with divorce, to help set the amounts of alimony and support payments, and to get those payments paid once they are ordered."

Brooks, who said the department was organized in 1920, reported that his agency handled 2,739 divorce cases during the first three months of 1946. They were about three-fourths of the 3,718 cases brought before common pleas courts in Cuyahoga county in those three months.

"We are over-loaded with divorce cases, as you here no doubt are," Brooks said. (Richland county's divorce rate has been declining since its all time peak of 85 cases filed last January.)

"Analysis of the statistics for those three months show that 1,990 of the cases involved families with children under 21 years of age, 1,421 of them with children less than 10 years old. Of the 2,739 cases, 1,262 were between man and wife married in Cuyahoga county, the rest out of the county.

"Although we have no specific figures on ages of the couple seeking divorces, 1,120 of them had been married less than five years while 1,582 of them had been married for five years or longer. From that you can see that divorce is not particularly the vice of the young."

Heads Off Divorces.

Unusual in the work of the department is the permission granted it by law to operate in advance of the filing of a divorce petition.

"By working in advance of the filing of a petition, we were successful, in one two-year period, in limiting the number of couples who went ahead and filed anyway to 10 per cent of all who intended to get divorces," Brooks said.

Brooks was introduced by Atty. Lydon H. Beam, program chairman. Atty. Henry P. Houston, president of the association, presided.

ELDERLY WOMEN INJURED BY AUTO

Two elderly women pedestrians, both residents of the Mansfield area, were struck and injured by a car yesterday at North Main and Third streets.

The more seriously injured, Mrs. Lovi Harvey, 55, of Shiloh R. D. 2, was admitted to General hospital with a broken collar bone.

Elda Hiner, 65, of Mansfield R. D. 3, was treated for knee bruises and released.

Driver of the car which struck them, Noami S. McDavitt, of Wooster, said that the two women stepped from behind a truck into the path of her car. The driver and two witnesses said she was proceeding through the intersection on a green light.

AAA ELECTION SET FOR DEC. 19

Richland county farmers soon will elect township and county Triple-A committeemen, it was announced today by Guy L. Taylor, chairman of the county Triple-A committee.

Elections in the 17 townships will be held from 12 noon until 9 p. m., Dec. 19, while election of the county committee will take place at the county convention, Dec. 21.

Dates and locations of township nomination meetings will be announced later, Taylor said.

Instructions issued by the Production and Marketing administration require that all township nomination meetings be held on or before Dec. 13, 1946.

Ten to Be Nominated.

Ten eligible farmers will be nominated for the five committeemen posts open in each township. The nominee receiving the highest number of votes will become the township chairman and delegate to the county convention. The three receiving the highest number of votes will become township committeemen while the remaining two will serve as alternates.

At the county convention delegates will elect three members and two alternates for the county committee, with the one receiving the highest number of votes to become the county chairman.

To be eligible to vote, a farmer must be participating in the Agriculture Conservation Program.

Township and county committeemen are responsible for administering several government farm programs.

Principal of these is the Agriculture Conservation Program. Among ACP duties are determination of conservation practices for which assistance is offered, and allocation among farmers of funds for conservation needs.

Serving with Guy L. Taylor, Washington township, as chairman on this year's county committee are Raymond K. Landis, Butler township, and Warren E. Eckstein, Sandusky township.

4 GROUPS SUBMIT EXPANSION PLANS

Expansion plans for the Friendly House, YMCA, YWCA, Girl Scouts and Salvation army were submitted last night to the executive committee of the Citizens Council on Social Survey at a meeting in the Chamber of Commerce rooms.

Calling for social agency development that is expected to involve the expenditure of some $800,000, the plans will be studied by the committee and submitted to the council as a whole.

Details of the plans which envisage several new structures and possible additions to present ones were withheld pending the study and recommendation to the council which will authorize drives for funds to finance the project.

Last night's meeting was in charge of D. E. Kirkpatrick, council chairman. Reports were made by A. C. Rhoades and H. B. Soulen.

Master Sgt. Daniel DeSalvo, of the Mansfield Army recruiting station, was faced with problems of grand strategy this morning. Returning from a recruiting station commander's meeting in Columbus, DeSalvo found his command cut down by two. Sgt. Charles F. Hubner is being transferred to Wright Field, and Cpl. Jerome E. Powell, is going home, having received his honorable discharge. Now DeSalvo is studying ways and means to carry on his recruiting drive until replacements for his two aids arrive.

Adjutant R. L. Gutterman of the Volunteers took them in and started them safely on their way today.

HEAD OF HOME ASKED TO QUIT

ASHLAND — Resignation of John Kahl, superintendent of the Ashland county home, was asked today by Charles C. Mowery, one of the three Ashland county commissioners. Mowery issued a public statement Friday citing Kahl for neglect of the county home farm and criticising the cost of operation at the home.

The other two commissioners have not joined Mowery in his demand for Kahl's resignation.

T. J. Stence, chairman of the board of commissioners, stated publicly that his only criticism would be operation of the 211-acre farm, that he feels the patients at the home are well cared for and properly fed. Meat is provided at least once a day, with eggs substituted during the acute meat shortage, he said.

Cites Cost.

Mowery contends that cost of operation of the home per inmate is second highest in the state but that the inmates are not receiving care in accordance with the cost, due to poor management. Income from the farm is below that of other farms of similar size because of this poor management, he states.

Kahl, Mowery states, operates the farm only on a part-time basis, devoting the remainder of his time to operating his own farm near Savannah. Crop programs on the two farms naturally conflict with the result that the county farm is neglected, he avers.

Early Action Unlikely.

Mowery cites figures from the 1944 report of the state auditor, showing cost of caring for the 21 inmates to be $13,375, or $636 per inmate, a figure exceeded only in Champlain county where $63,922 was spent to care for 52 inmates, $1,229 per inmate.

Another report cited by Mowery is that made by the Ohio public expenditure council of Columbus showing that receipts from farm products exceeded by only $33.80 the sum spent for farm supplies.

No immediate action on Mowery's demand was anticipated as Stence and Commissioner Don Spreng have not indicated any desire to side with Mowery in his demand.

MINOR JOB SHAKEUPS EXPECTED

County to Feel Little Effect of Republican Landslide.

By PHILIP GREENE

Outside of a few minor job shake-ups, the Republican cakewalk at the electoral polls last Tuesday is not expected to bring any startling alterations to Richland county's governmental policy and makeup.

Only three offices at the county level were at stake in the election. The Republican county commissioner up for re-election, C. L. Shoup, won as expected and the Democratic county auditor, Norman L. Wolfe, was reinstated to his office without opposition.

The third office, that of county representative to the Ohio legislature, while it changed hands, moved only from one Republican to another. Atty. John L. Catlett, a previous two-termer in the office, replaced Neil S. Robinson.

Personal Revisions.

Ralph M. Hardy, chairman of the county Republican executive committee, thinks the only noticeable change to result here will be in personnel revisions in state departments.

"From what I can learn, Herbert (newly elected Governor Thomas J. Herbert) intends only to weed out a few unnecessary employes in certain departments, raise wages and replace unfit workers in an effort to gain greater efficiency," Hardy said.

It is to be assumed that the replacements will be of the Republican political faith but, according to Hardy, there will be no "wholesale ouster of present employes."

Departments Affected.

Departments to be so effected will probably be highways, liquor and aid to the aged. Traditionally replaced as each new administration of different party affiliations takes office is the division engineer in the highway department, currently Harold Gerold of Sandusky.

The department's R i c h l a n d county maintenance superintendent, Clarence Tugend, likewise faces the prospect of finding a new job.

On the county level, however, little change is expected because no party holdings were changed. The same seven Democrats and five Republicans who held county offices before the election are holding them today.

Chairman Change Possible.

Republicans have been talking about a possible change in the chairmanship of the board of county commissioners, held for the past two years by Shoup. It is possible that John W. Selby, Republican commissioner elected along with Democrat Guy F. Stewart two years ago, may be named chairman in a move designed to whip the board into swifter and more aggressive action on various problems that will face the commissioners.

However, Selby is not enthusiastic about such a switch.

"Mr. Shoup is not only my senior on the board but has done a good job as chairman. I wouldn't want the job," Selby said.

With the board Republican-dominated, it is unlikely that Stewart would be named chairman at the reorganization meeting Jan. 6.

Seven Democrats In Office.

The seven Democrats holding office today, as before the election, are Sheriff Frank E. Robinson, County Engineer Walter E. Rusk, Treasurer C. C. Payne, Recorder D. D. Orewiler, Clerk of Courts Howard Wenning, and Commissioner Stewart and Auditor Wolfe.

The five Republicans are Probate Judge S. H. Cramer, Common Pleas Judge G. E. Kalbfleisch, Prosecutor Theodore Lutz, and Commissioners Selby and Shoup.

The terms of the commissioners are for four years, as is that of the auditor. The county representative to the Ohio legislature holds office for two years.

LINGERING ILLNESS FATAL TO LEACH

Walter Scott Leach, 48, died early today at his home, 128 West Fourth street, following a lingering illness. He was born January 16, 1898 near Lewistown, Pa., and come to Mansfield five years ago.

He was employed as a layout man for the Flexible Conveyor company, until 16 months ago when ill health forced him to quit.

He leaves his wife, Ruth; a stepdaughter, Mrs. Wayne Dovenbarger of Marietta, Ohio; two brothers, Ira Leach of Lewistown, Pa., and Bruce Leach of Mansfield; four sisters, Pauline and Lottie Leach and Mrs. John Lutz of Lewistown and Mrs. Charles McDermott of Mansfield.

The body was removed to the Wappner funeral home where services will be held Monday at 1:30 p. m., in charge of Rev. A. F. Lindbeck, pastor of Mayflower Congregational church. Burial will be in the Mansfield cemetery.

Dorothy Kilgallen—

Hi'ya Stranger

Hi'ya and welcome to Little New York! Oh, I know the guidebooks refer to it as Little Old New York, but the date books demonstrate there's always something new happening here, so let's toss away the Baedekers and skip Grant's Tomb this time. There's plenty to see and do in the Brand New Department, so put on your hat and stuff your wallet and stay as long as you can.

Did you drive here? If you did, park the jalopy in a garage and don't give it another thought until you're ready to spin home. We have a new set of parking rules since you were here last time and the net result is enough to make any car owner grind his teeth, to say nothing of his brakes, and use language unfit for ballroom or barracks.

* * *

Ready for Broadway? Helen Hayes is back in "Happy Birthday," a slim little barroom piece creampuff version of "The Iceman Cometh." She sings it, and dances, too—displaying a couple of talents the reverent theatre-goers thought she had given up with her Lew Fields babe-in-arms days.

In "Lady Windermere's Fan" you'll hear those old not-so-wild-any-more Wilde lines flung out in brittle haste by an excellent company of actors and served up in unbelieveably gorgeous settings crowded with 3,500 roses. And if you like Burgess Meredith you will probably dash to the Booth, where "Playboy of the Western World" is on the boards, and discover a playboy the like of which was never seen at El Morocco.

* * *

Plenty new in the restaurant and night spot division, too, Stranger—just decide your type and head for your dish. There's a new Red Coach Inn, with a slashing red canopy that you can't miss, on the 58th st. side of the Savoy Plaza. For people who like to eat and drink in a fashionably correct atmosphere, it's ri'ght "on the beaten path."

On the same street, not far away, you'll find the Dogwood Room in the Blackstone Hotel—a genteel, below the Mason-Dixon line, kind of place operated by a typical fair flower of the old South named Lottie Mitchell Pierce and specializing in the most delicious form of fried chicken and corn bread.

Another new twist in the Manhattan scene is the sudden arrival of television as an added atraction in restaurants and cafes. Gilmore's was first, I believe, to install a television set for the edification of patrons interested in sports events. Now 21 has a big television box in its lobby and El Borracho has added video to its cocktail lounge.

Indications are that many eating places will leap to follow this trend, on the theory that New Yorkers are much too gregarious to Want To Be Alone for long, and would rather view television events while dining and sipping in a public place than in the privacy of their own nests.

* * *

In the night clubs you'll notice a newly-revived interest in quartettes of all kinds. At Leon & Eddie's there is a foursome called the Amory Brothers—young, nice-looking lads who do to songs what Fred Astaire does to dancing. They stop every show cold, and you shouldn't miss them.

Then there's a comedy combine at La Martinique, the Vagabonds, that specializes in mad lyrics, incredible antics and nonsensical impersonations; and at the jazzy fast-stepping Zanzibar on Broadway the Inkspots are holding forth with the brand of harmonizing that seems to sweep customers into the aisles.

There's a new girl singer you ought to catch, too, if you like music up-to-date and not corny. Her name is Bonnie Davis. She warbles with The Picadilly Pipers at the Three Deuces, and if you ask her to sing "Come Rain, Come Shine" you won't be sorry.

Dress Helps To Make The Woman

Not far distant is the day when you'll be thinking of your winter wardrobe. You may be flirting with the idea of a fur coat right now. Shop windows beckon. The summer outfit looks as all clothes look at the end of the season; you are too familiar with them. Considering that sartorial trappings are a large factor in charm of appearance, it is a wise and sensible thing for a woman to give thought to the matter, to educate herself in line and color, find out what modes flatter her.

Impulsive buying of hats, frocks and accessories is the easiest possible way to get rid of money and acquire a wardrobe of which one soon tires. A gay coat seizes the fancy of the shopper. She must have it. There's something about it that says "Take me with you; give me a home, lady." She does that little thing. She has a new red hat and the coat snarles at it. The cute little brown frock that she expects to wear another year is completely submerged by the coat, which refuses to make friends with anything in the way of dry goods.

What then, my hearties? More pilgrimages to the fashion marts to find a frock and hat that won't throw the coat out of color gear. Maybe they're too expensive for the clothes budget. Tears and lamentations.

When money is a stern consideration—as it is with most of us—the clothes problem is not precisely easy. You don't do it casually, if the old brain is on the job. You remember the mistakes of the past, the purchases you made and that your conscience made you wear. Clothes effect moods and feelings, as every woman has found out. Dismal duds; dismal thoughts. Gay attire invites a feeling of high spirits. Isn't it so? A pair of red shoes can make a woman feel ten years younger.

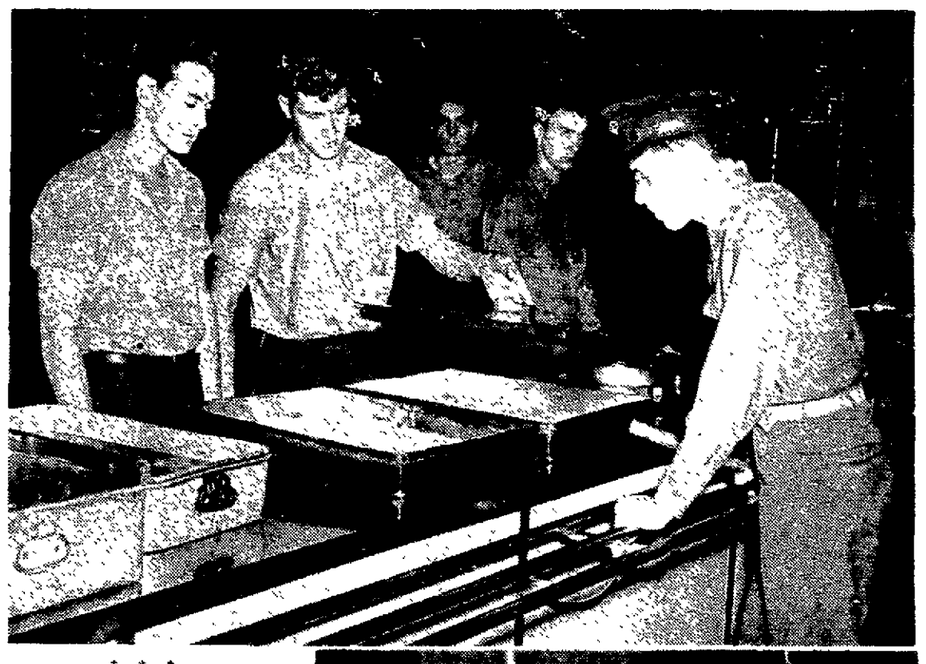
Here's a good shopping rule: when in doubt, don't buy it. It is not for you. If there is one single detail of a dress that does not appeal to you, keep on going.

Be suspicious of the fussy frock with too many decorations. A woman never tires of a simply designed dress of appealing fabric. It becomes a part of her, is a good friend.

Be dubious about that too-ornate buckle on the belt; you'd always be conscious of it. That two-color bow dangling at the side may be just a touch too much; the designer who put it on didn't know when her work was finished. It has no meaning. Small details like that can ruin the sartorial composition.

Economy may force the shopper to ask herself, "Will it wear?" But the more important questions are, "Is this my style? Will I be happy and at ease with myself when I wear it?"

Veterans Get Unique On-the-Job Guard Training at Reformatory



* * *

By AL PREYER

An unusual, thorough, and varied training being offered to on-the-job veteran trainees was revealed this week by several Mansfielders who are among the 21 veterans now receiving the stiff course in reformatory guard training at Ohio State Reformatory.

"The course was organized in August of this year," D. W. Allen director of education at the reformatory said, pointing to a 40 page outline of the course which he and Superintendent Arthur L. Glattke worked out for the approval of the government under the G. I. Bill.

"The whole aim of the course," Allen emphasized is to give these trainees the practical work which goes into the making of a reformatory guard and the important philosophy behind his job."

"Too often men come here with a prejudice against inmates. It is the purpose of this training to change that attitude and make the trainee realize that his job is to help, not to punish. Boys are sent here as punishment, not to be punished." Allen continued.

"But talk to some of the boys getting the training," Allen said, introducing two of the Mansfield men, Arron Davis Jr., of Ashland road, and Donald Pierce, (rear) 259 Rae avenue.

Pierce, who was supervising the layout of food for the evening meal saw 30 months overseas duty in the Quartermaster corps and field artillery in the Eastern theater of operations.

"I like to work with boys and men, and want to combine that work with preparation for a position as supervisor of subsistence," Pierce said explaining why he had chosen the training.

"I get this training, and a lot more besides," he continued. "Our course of study is divided into 26 units with 50 to 60 hours of class-room work and hundreds of hours of night and day duty assignments which include training in guard room, cell block, yard and wall, farm, hospital and dormitory duty." Pierce continued. "That should give you a pretty good idea of the thoroughness of the course."

"Take my case," said Davis. "After three years in the Pacific as a Navy pharmacists mate, I liked working with boys and men as a medic. Therefore this training offers just what I want."

"We get to specialized training in the line which interests us particularly. I get to spend a great deal of my time in the hospital on medical training."

"We have specialized training in many fields," Davis pointed out. "A modern tin-shop, garage, furniture shop and laundry, just lists a few."

"This training course offers great opportunities to veterans who would like to work with boys and men toward the moulding of better characters," Pierce and Davis said.

"The complete theoretical and practical training we are getting will not only enable us to be better equipped for numerous occupations but will make our primary occupation as guards at the reformatory better understood and thus better executed for the welfare of the boys we are here to help," they concluded.

ADS SHOW HIKE IN FOOD COSTS

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The AFL, by-passing government cost of living statistics, took a look at newspaper ads of today and before the war and reported food prices up 500 to 600 per cent.

The federation's weekly news service made a comparison of food ads in Washington newspapers of June 1939 and Nov. 1, 1946.

Checking on advertisements by the same stores, the AFL "researchers" found that rib roast of beef was being sold in the capital on June 23, 1939 for 25 cents a pound, it was 69 cents last Friday.

Here are some more comparisons:

Chuck roast, 15 to 17 cents per pound seven years ago, now 45 cents; leg of lamb was 27, now 55 cents when procurable; pork roast was 11 cents, now listed at 63 cents a pound; hams, which sold seven years ago at 25 cents a pound now bring 49 cents; veal cutlets went from 33 to 69 cents.

Eggs were advertised in 1939 at two dozen for 35 cents, the report continued. Today a single dozen runs between 49 and 75 cents. Coffee, two pounds for 35 cents in 1939, now is offered at two pounds for 61 cents.

The federation said it found that sliced peaches which sold for two cans for 25 cents in 1939 now sell for 5 cents a can.

Then, in a burst of nostalgia, the AFL said it noted the following items in papers of 1939, but could find none now:

Pork and beans three one-pound cans at 10 cents; strip bacon, 17 cents a pound; shoulder veal roast, 13 cents a pound; frankfurters, 19 cents a pound; bologna, 11 cents; fresh cherries, 14 cents a pound.

Now Ohio Has 3 Senators— With 2 Tafts

WASHINGTON —(UNS)— A conflict between federal and Ohio election laws placed the Buckeye state in the unique position of having three senators today.

In addition to the Senators Taft and Sen. James W. Huffman, Ohio also has as Senator-Elect Former Gov. John W. Bricker, who also is in an unusual position. He will succeed, not one, but two senators when his term begins January 3.

The mix-up came about because Ohio law specified that the term of an appointed senator—in this case Huffman—ends on December 15 following the election of his successor. That makes Huffman still senator—according to Ohio law.

But federal law states that when a senator is elected to succeed an appointee, he takes over the day following election, state law notwithstanding. That makes Kingsley Taft, of Cleveland, senator.

And, of course, Sen. Robert A. Taft still has four years of his statutory term remaining. That, without doubt under either law, makes him senator.

Add them up. One, two, three!

Barclay On Bridge

WHETHER TO lead the suit bid by your partner, against a No Trump game, or select some other suit, depends not only on the composition of your own holding, but on the way the contract was reached. If the declarer called No Trumps immediately after hearing your partner's bid, the chances are that he thinks he has it amply stopped. In such circumstances, it is especially incumbent on you to study your own holding to see if some other suit may offer a more hopeful defense.

West led the top card of his partner's hearts, and South had no more problem than to run 10 tricks, with three in hearts, six in diamonds and one in spades.

This was really unimaginative leading by West, when his task was so clearly delineated by the bidding, combined with a view of his own hand. Having a suit so near to solid in secondary cards, his clubs offered the most hopeful defense. The opponents had bid both diamonds and spades to show those suits in shape, and South's prompt call of No Trumps, right after East's 2-Hearts, indicated his lack of fear from that quarter and his expectation of making game if hearts were led.

If West's weak hand had included nothing in clubs except five very low ones, with perhaps the nine-spot high, then his choice would not have been so clear-cut. But his actual holding was far from worthless, especially since on the bidding South might have been taking some degree of chance on having the clubs properly protected. It is easy to see, of course, that a club lead, with East playing the A, would have resulted in five imediate tricks for the defense.

Try and Stop Me

—By Bennet Cerf

The girl on the witness stand looked like something dreamed up by Varga, and Judge Timberwolf absent-mindedly straightened his necktie and asked in dulcet tones, "Where were you, my dear, night before last?"

"Entertaining a gentleman friend," she said demurely. "And where were you last night?" he persisted. "Entertaining another gentleman friend," she admitted.

The judge was halfway off the bench as he whispered, "And where are you going to be tonight?" "Objection!" shouted the prosecuting attorney. "I asked her first!"

The authoress of a current best seller very obviously considers herself an irresistible glamour girl conveniently disregarding a formidable set of buck teeth. An ungallant soul at a literary tea created a furore by telling her, "I'll bet you're the only person in New York who can eat a tomato through a tennis racket."

"Mighty big tip you handed that cloakroom attendant," commented Jones. "It seemed only fair," said Smith. "Look at the beautiful new coat she gave me."

PAGE FOUR MANSFIELD, OHIO, SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 9, 1946

Drive carefully tomorrow—you'll want to be on hand to learn whether things get better or worse.

One interpretation is that it was a Democratic defeat, not a Republican victory—which may require some study.

The Japs have decided that their emperor is not divine—but they can't quite understand the American attitude toward John L. Lewis.

Firm But Fair Restraints Needed

A COMMON expression, during the past few days, is that the time is at hand for all Americans to "take stock" of their country, in the hope of finding a wiser course than has been followed in recent years.

This week's election outcome can scarcely be regarded as a victory of one political party over the other—it can more fairly be considered as majority desire for a change from the regimentation, favoritism and bureaucratic domination that grew out of the so-called New Deal regime foisted upon the country in 1933.

Many things will have to be done to bring restoration of American principles in federal government, but the one of most immediate concern is that having to do with the readjustment of organized labor to its proper relationship with the national economy as a whole.

There is danger, in the present situation, that resentment growing out of strikes, threats of strikes, work stoppages, slowdowns, jurisdictional disputes, aggressive picketing, compulsory membership, and the like, may influence congress to place too great restraint on the legitimate practices of union labor organizations that are now dominated by unscrupulous or over-zealous leadership.

Threatened renewal of a coal miners' strike, under direction of John L. Lewis, provides an example of the length to which such hindrances to the public welfare can be carried. It has been only five months since the miners were granted a wage increase of $1.85 a day, with provision for vacation pay and a huge health and welfare fund.

Another wage increase to the miners' union, an AFL affiliate, would almost surely bring similar demands from other AFL and CIO unions—unless there is a change in union leadership policies which are now based on an idea that wages must keep pace with inflationary prices, rather than that prices should be reduced to come within the buying power of reasonable wages.

Congressional action designed to restrain the excesses of union organization leaders, and to do away with indefensible jurisdictional strikes, may be expected soon after the first of the year, and the interim may well be devoted to "stock-taking" within various unions, so that their future "demands" can be kept within bounds which will merit public approval, rather than add to resentment.

Where Animosities Refuse To Die

A LOOK at a map of the United States showing post-election distribution of Republican and Democratic congressmen can scarcely fail to impress an observer with the continued disattachment of states in the Deep South from any of the changing trends of national thinking that are observed from time to time in other parts of the country.

It has now been 81 years since the end of the Civil war, but the animosities engendered by that conflict are still reflected by considerable majorities in the southern states which constituted the Confederacy—a regrettable situation but one for which there seems no immediate remedy.

Such a condition, however, within the borders of the United States, serves to give a clearer understanding of difficulties being encountered in establishing post-war territorial bounds in Europe, and of the dissension existing between people of unlike thinking in other countries.

A greater spirit of unity in the United States is something to be earnestly desired, and striven toward.

Pictures Especially For Children

A NOTEWORTHY experiment in the motion picture field is being entered upon in response to widespread criticism that many of the modern pictures are not suited to audiences of children and that some special provision should be made for entertainment of juveniles.

The outcome is what is known as "The Children's Film Library," with producing companies co-operating in re-issues of children's classics for Saturday showing, and the reception has thus far been enthusiastic, with approval by parents, teachers—and, equally important—the children themselves.

There can be no doubt that young children sometimes go—or are taken—to pictures that are solely designed for adult entertainment, nor can it be doubted that some children are permitted to go to too many picture shows "for their own good"—especially during school months

If a formula can be developed which makes it profitable for motion picture interests to go further in the production or re-issue of features which provide wholesome and enjoyable entertainment for children—the beneficial results will justify the effort

Question: 'Is Honesty Sectional?'

"SPENDING the summer in Canada," says a friend, "and needing a few carpenters' nails for a petty job one day, I ran across a keg that I had forgotten, nearly filled with nails, and so heavy that I could hardly lift it. There were quantities of assorted nails of many sizes which I had stored in the cheerful faith that they would come of use some day. And I wondered a little that, at a time when I knew Canada was starving for nails, my own should have been so faithfully preserved. Any man or boy could have made his way into the cabin and taken them. They were in plain sight. And everything else was just as I had left it a year ago."

But when the American expressed surprise at the honesty of those simple Canadians, to one of them, the only response was a look of mild surprise and the remark: "Why, of course we wouldn't take your nails."

Word comes that the women of Bolivia have rejected the right to vote "until they know more about such matters"—which may explain why some folks in this country stay away from the polls.

An effort is now being made by farm scientists to develop an egg that will not crack under eight pounds pressure—but can the unhatched baby chick be strengthened to overcome that added resistance?

This time, at least, that old idea—"As Maine goes"—turned out quite well . . . and it is also recalled that Jim Farley made no prediction.

As the Republicans sing it to the Democrats: "PAC up your troubles."

THAT POINT AFTER TOUCHDOWN

GOP Faces Heavy Responsibilities As Reversal Returns It To Power

By RAYMOND MOLEY

The FIRST flood of speculation, after Tuesday's election, concerns 1948 Most of this speculation will be wasted effort. Human beings rush from the unfolding of one unknown to the next. But too many unknowns must become known before wise people will begin predicting candidates and winning parties

Some of those who depend heavily on precedent say that a change in the presidency always follows a change in party control in congress. This is only partially true. The facts reveal notable exceptions.

It is best to begin with the founding of the Republican party, because prior to that party divisions were confused. In 1854, more Republicans than Democrats were elected, although the balance was held by 43 from "other parties."

But in 1856, the Democratic party retained the presidency. In 1878 the Democrats won the house, but did not win the presidency in 1880. In 1886 the Democrats won the house but lost the presidency in 1888. In 1930 the Republicans won the mid-term test, 220-214, but lost the presidency in 1932.

In 1931, however, when the house met, the Republican majority was in the grave Garner was elected speaker, and the Democrats controlled the house. The rule, therefore, has had four exceptions If we put it another way, we find that while there were eight party changes' in the presidency since 1860, the house changed six times, in 1858, 1882, 1890, 1894, 1910 and 1918.

It will take something more than history to elect a Republican president in 1948.

Speculation on Republican candidates will center, for the most part, on the same names that were prominent in 1944—Thomas E. Dewey, John W. Bricker and Harold Stassen. There will also be speculation about Earl Warren of California and Raymond E Baldwin of Connecticut.

Unquestionably, Dewey will be a leading contender, despite his defeat in 1944 There will be rivalry, more or less suppressed, between Bricker and Taft. Stassen will mobilize the more progressive forces among Republicans, who may, with many recruits among the new senators and congressmen, be a formidable challenge to old-line Republican leadership

One Democrat, who might have been a rallying point for Democrats opposed to the renomination of Truman, Governor Frank J. Lausche of Ohio, has been defeated Henry Wallace Democrats may claim that Truman caused the debacle at this election and try to supplant him.

Thus, both parties will have strong factional troubles.

One factor, potent in winning presidential elections, will be economic

If, as many prophets suggest, we are to have a mild recession in business, it will almost certainly be charged by Democrats to the Republican victory.

The strength of this issue will depend on the length and depth of the predicted recession.

In any event, we should be spared the monotony of hearing from Republicans that Communists or President Truman or the New Deal is responsible for our future ills.

The Republicans have the power now and they should behave like a responsible party.

Tuesday, Nov. 9, 1926.

City council was considering terms of new street lighting contract with Ohio Public Service company.

Inspection of Ohio Brass plant was feature of meeting of City Foremen's club.

Rotary club meeting was held at City club, and D. Osborne Meese, chairman, gave a talk on club history and purposes.

Eli Brown, 55, died at his home, 76 Harker street.

H. H. Henry was chosen president of the Family Welfare Agency board to succeed John H Finefrock who resigned

District conference of American Legion auxiliaries was held at Legion home here

Motorcycle Patrolman Ralph Hildebrand suffered wrist fracture during scuffle while he was making an arrest.

THIS DAY IN HISTORY

On November 9, 1889, the privilege of free letter delivery was extended to all United States cities having 5 000 or more inhabitants.

Dave Boone Says:

CONTRASTING with the run-of-the-mill alibis explanations and kicks about the election result was a brief statement by Wilbert Snow, defeated gubernatorial candidate in Connecticut. "We are in for some reaction," he said, "but it is by action and reaction that the purposes of democracy are fulfilled."

* * *

I didn't hear a wiser, more sportsmanlike or truly American comment by a defeated candidate from any other spot in America.

* * *

If elections always went one way in this country, it would be the world thing that could happen to democracy, and would spell its finish The best Americans are taking the attitude ofthis Connecticut professor. They are not the ones bellyaching about a major disaster.

Restraint on Union Labor Leaders Foreseen.

NEW YORK — For the Democratic party and for the labor movement in America the meaning of Tuesday's elections should be abundantly clear. A head-in-the-sand attitude is no longer possible except for those who choose deliberately to ignore the facts

The first and most obvious fact is that the Democratic party had grown old and tired in office Little or nothing was done to encourage new and younger men to take responsibility and power Aging satraps jealously guarded their rights and privileges.

The slogan, "had enough?" originated in Massachusetts. The Republican managers shrewdly calculated on the weariness and satiety of the average voter.

At times it has seemed that the Democrats went out of their way to embrace their mistakes. The endorsement of Representative Andrew J May by the Democratic campaign managers was a deliberate insult to every voter. Quite apart from the Garsson munitions scandal which was given much more prominence than it deserved, May had repeatedly proved his incompetence His defeat is a net gain regardless of the qualifications of his opponent

The blame for all this does not fall primarily, it seems to me, on Democratic Chairman Robert Hannegan. In many instances Hannegan wanted to apply party discipline to unload incompetents and aging candidates obviously unfit either for a campaign or for active public office.

But since there is no such thing as party discipline within the Democratic party he was powerless That he will resign shortly seems at this point a certainty. He has been deeply aware that he was fighting a losing battle.

The lesson for the labor movement, and above all for the men who lead it, is even more pointed The rank-and-file labor vote that the Democratic party counted on in the Roosevelt era simply was not there Either they did not vote or in large numbers they voted against the choice of their bosses.

This means indifference and downright disaffection Those who have been saying that the rank and file was off the reservation now have something tangible to offer in evidence.

The top men of labor will camouflage this fact at their own risk and at the risk of the gains labor has made in the past 14 years.

Any suggestion that the average American—including the rank and file of the unions—was fed up with the excesses and abuses of the union bosses has hitherto been met with scorn. The proof, as seen in the outcome of Tuesday's elections, cannot be laughed away.

How far restrictive labor legislation will go no one can say at this time It cannot be stopped, in the house at any rate, by a presidential veto The bloc of Democrats who have voted consistently with the Republicans in recent years will continue to vote with them In that bloc are at least 60 votes.

Added to the new Republican majority, the total will be more than enough to beat down Mr. Truman. The same is likely to be true of the senate where reactionary Democrats have set the pace for the Republicans Those southern Democratic votes will add up with Republican votes for wiping out all government controls and for clamping down on labor.

Jurisdictional strikes will certainly be barred by law That will be only the beginning.

The Case bill, which President Truman vetoed, with its cooling off period and other restrictive features, is likely to be the minimum.

The labor bosses may breathe defiance as in the past But this time those angry cries will sound a little hollow.

Lawless Orders and the Law.

Police authorities of Atlanta have acted promptly in arresting leaders of the so-called Columbians, Inc., a secret order after the fashion of the Ku Klux Klan but apparently designed to be more militant in its operations. Like the klan, this new organization is built upon ignorance and racial prejudice Its leaders have been outspoken in denouncing various racial and religious groups, and thereby are violating the principles of Americanism which they assume to defend.

Because of the open and even more flagrant offenses of the Columbians the Atlanta police have an obvious excuse for the arrest and jailing of the ringleaders of the order. The klan members operate with more caution and much greater secrecy. But essentially the two organizations are alike in purposes To the utmost extent possible, both should be dealt with by the law.—Kansas City Star.

Republicans Ponder Grave Issues As They Prepare For Leadership

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

THE SWIFT end of wartime controls over national economy and legislative proposals intended to ease labor-management strife loom as the biggest issues facing the new Republican-dominated congress.

The smashing swing right by American voters, which returned control of house and senate to the GOP for the first time in 15 years, has presented Republicans with no postwar sinecure. Republican leadership has slated a series of policy-shaping conferences in preparation for January 3 when the 80th congress convenes.

The Republicans hold no illusion, however, that it will be easy to place their program — when drafted — into effect. They must persuade a Democratic president to accept that program or try to crack his vetoes when they come

The phalanx of Democratic votes from the still fairly Solid South will make overriding a Truman veto a major task. A two-thirds vote of each house is necessary.

Harmony or at least a practical working agreement between President Truman and the Republican-ruled congress will have to be achieved unless there is to be a repetition of the deadlock that existed between President Woodrow Wilson and his legislators after World War I.

The executive and legislative branches are confronted by a host of grave national and international issues. Domestic problems, heavy with controversy, which this team must face, include the draft, which expires March 15; merger of the armed services, and congressional (streamlined) reorganization, which while passed by the 79th congress is not binding on the 80th.

The surge of voters to the Republican side of the ballot Tuesday unseated such Democratic veterans as Senators Joseph Guffey of Pennsylvania, James M. Tunnell of Delaware and David Walsh of Massachusetts, and Congressmen Andrew J. May and Emmet O'Neal of Kentucky and John E. Sheridan of Pennsylvania.

At Home

Strike Threats.

CIO unions carried the ball last winter in labor's first round of strikes for cost-of-living increases.

This fall, John L. Lewis apparently determined to lead not follow the parade. He asked the government, which seized the mines from operators last spring after a two-months strike had throttled heavy industry, to reopen discussion of wages He threatened to close the mines a few days before election day.

The government agreed to talk terms Secretary of the Interior J. A. Krug, nominal boss of the mines, was on the west coast, however, and wily old John L., veteran of many a labor skirmish with government and private industry, delayed his personal appearance at the conference table until Krug's return

While aids discussed preliminaries with Capt N. H. Collisson, navy mine administrator, Lewis let it be known from UMW headquarters that unless important concessions were made by November 20, 400,000 soft coal miners would consider the contract abrogated and follow their traditional policy: No contract, no work!

Shrinking Dollar.

Government price controls faded swiftly.

Before October 14, the bulk of most processed food was under OPA ceilings Within less than a month less than 3 percent remained under government supervision. Sugar and rice, being scarce, were kept under ceilings but bread, cereals, most canned products were cut loose along with alcoholic beverages.

Controls remained for rent, textiles, basic metals, cars and refrigerators but there was agitation for their being freed of all laws save supply and demand.

Meat prices were falling from the record highs of late October This was attributed partly to competition and partly to buyers' strikes.

The problem of the housewife limited to a budget was illuminated by Department of Labor statistics on dollar value. The dollar dropped 24 cents between January, 1941, and June, 1945, it said, fell another seven cents between June and September 15.

Marry In Haste . . .

During the war between 75,000 and 100,000 American soldiers wed foreign women in the European Theater of Operations By now at least 12,000 of these wartime weddings have been broken up

That is the estimate of D. G Mastrude of the International Migration Service, back in the United States after a survey of the problem in the United Kingdom and Europe

In most cases, he said, the GI brides were simply abandoned.

"The soldier goes home, and that's the last his wife in Europe ever hears of him," Mastrude said. "We discovered that a great many soldiers gave false addresses in America. Countless marriage were bigamous, the man already having a wife in the U. S."

Full Pack for Santa.

Predictions on all sides are that the Christmas sales volume will range 10 percent greater than last year's record holiday buying season In terms of dollars, Federal Reserve Board economists who keep tally on department store sales, believe the peak will be 20 to 25 percent above a year ago.

D. Stevens Wilson, commerce department economist, predicts there will be more goods available, wider choice and better quality without wartime substitutes. Good toys, he says, are now available in quantity, along with many types of household appliances and furnishings.

However, that doesn't mean every good little boy and girl will get just what he wants. First Santa is having reindeer trouble stemming from strikes in the maritime, trucking, manufacturing and selling industries. Then there are more good little boys and girls around than ever before and parents, stymied for five years by wartime restrictions, are expected to go all-out this season.

Old Battles Continue.

New York became the diplomatic capital of the world as international peacemakers conferred at the United Nations General Assembly in Flushing Meadow, the Security Council at Lake Success and at the Big Four Council of Foreign Ministers at the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel.

It soon became apparent that old differences still persisted even in these swank modern surroundings, far from the ornate Old World places of Paris and London.

Abroad

Shortages In Reich.

The standard of living must be raised quickly in Germany if the Germans are to be won over to democracy, reported Lt. Gen. Lucius D Clay, American deputy military commander, who is to leave this week for New York to confer with Secretary of State Byrnes in preparation for the peace treaty discussions of the Big Four on the conquered Reich

Gen. Clay said that immediate economic conditions in the American zone were "not favorable", due largely to a shortage of coal, but predicted that economic merger with the British zone would help.

Gen. Clay listed as AMG achievements in the U. S. occupation zone the restoration of German public services, renazification and demilitarization, the conduct of democratic elections and re-establishment of a German press.

Trouble In China.

Peace negotiations between China's embattled factions continued in Nanking under the wing of Gen. George C. Marshall, the president's special envoy, but it seemed to all but the most optimistic observers that nothing short of a miracle could halt the spreading conflict.

Quotes

Ernest Bevin, British foreign secretary: "I am never optimistic, but never pessimistic, either. One thing is quite clear and that is that everybody wants peace and is tired of conflict and turmoil."

Robert P. Patterson, secretary of war: "If war should come again we may be certain that in speed, range and power of weapons it will make the war just finished look like a fight with old-time muzzle loaders."

In Short

Killed: By communal rioting in India from July 1 through October 30, 5,018 persons.

Named: R. Adm Thorvald A. Solberg and Lt. Gen. Lewis H. Brereton to head the military committee working with Civilian Atomic Commission headed by David E. Lilienthal

Farmer's Diary: "Views on Education."

Editor's Note: Today's Diary is devoted to a letter which Mr. Byers received from a reader of his column It is submitted as containing food for thought.

Dear Mr Byers

I am an old fogey like yourself (Thank you.) In one of your columns you asked for suggestions as to how to improve present methods of education. I think what's wrong is that people are taught too much head education and not enough heart education, when most of us are stronger at heart than we are in the head.

Kids are pestered about GRADES for 12 long years, in the public schools. Where does it get us? Grades are just inventions, anyhow . . like the false work of a building, they are never used after the building is completed But such things as fair play, kindness, and understanding each other's problems are too often never mentioned. When those things would be of lifelong importance.

I would like to see some grades and prizes given for strength of character in students. I would like to see some rivalry as to who could be of greatest service to the community. I would like to have some importance placed upon behavior at home . and I don't mean the usual "home work" A boy who gets up early for a month in winter to make the fire and carry out the ashes would learn more about living than comes from books, and if his sister gets the family breakfast on certain mornings, it will make her complexion fairer.

I wish we could hit a whack at snobbery Why could not children become acquainted with men who are successful in all the walks of life. A good blacksmith knows things that would be valuable for boys So does a good night watchman

A woman who has mothered a big family could tell girls things that these young co-ed teachers never have heard of.

I agree with you that farming is a basic matter—Land Use, you call it. But not for a requirement for every voter. How would you do it? Make them take an exam and get a grade? I fear for the country, if things get any more complicated.

Mr. Byers, there are two kinds of folks in this world . . . those who love their fellow men and those who exploit them. The pity of it is that we always put a premium on exploitation Seems to me we should make it impossible to graduate from our public schools without knowledge of how to live as a healthy parents and a useful member of society. Educated Hearts are even more important than educated Minds.

With best wishes,

K. O.

How It Started

—By JEAN NEWTON

Flag At Half Mast.

The flag at half mast as a sign of public mourning is one of those familiar details of our contemporary life that we have come to take for granted without inquiring as to the reason for it, or the story behind the custom—which can usually be found, for nothing "just happened!"

It is an old military and naval practice which we observe when we fly flags at half mast on public buildings today. For ages, in time of war, a sign of submission was to lower the flag. The vanquished lowered their ensign and above it, on the same staff, was flown the flag of the victors. And from all the implications there of a sign of respect, mourning and distress, lowering the flag became a military and naval sign of mourning, which was carried over into general use.
